Praise was expressed at last week's Red Cross annual meeting for response at a blood donor clinic held at the high school.

Thompson said this first attempt had been an outstanding success, and has augmented the total collected this year by 120 packs. Although several students had been donors at regular clinics, this was the first time an exclusively student activity had been held.

A total of 143 offered blood, with 23 rejects. Eight staff members, including principal Michael Furlong were donors.

Donating their blood at the high school are, from background, John Lemay, Gord Cash, Bill King, and teacher A. Rye.

Set March 16 Hearing Date For Hunters' Protest

Results of a survey made by some 550 North Halton hunters among farmers in Esqueving and Nassagaweya townships will be made public at a Nassagaweya council meeting, March 16.

citizens group last year in protesting careless hunting in the township.

Members and legal representatives of the Halton Sportsmen's Association plan to meet with Nassagaweya council that night to protest the township's ban on hunting.

Residents complained that hunters shot at livestock, ducks on farm ponds, and even noises in the bush. They told council they feared for their lives. Paul Coulson, president of the Halton Sportsmen's Association says that hunters from outside the area are causing the complaints and that the ban should apply only to them.

CARELESS HUNTERS

The Halton Sportsmen's Association was formed late last year and includes a number of clubs in the county including the Georgetown Hunters and Hunters Association.

SHOT AT LIVESTOCK

Reeve MacArthur expects that if the hunting ban were accepted by Nassagaweya it would spread to Esqueving Township.

Nassagaweya's Reeve Anne MacArthur claims all game hunting should be restricted to northern Ontario. She joined Hunters have been visiting farms in the area to find out how farmers feel about hunting on their land.

Testimonial Dinner for Nest Halton's 'Mr. Clean'

More than 500 persons paid tribute to Halton's 'Mr. Clean' last week at a testimonial dinner for George Kerr MPP for Halton West who is Ontario's minister of energy and resources.

Kerr also received a gas mask for inspecting alleged pollution, boots for climbing Ontario Hydro smokestacks, and a train engineer's cap since Kerr's department is responsible for the Ontario Northland Railroad.

John McLean, president of the Halton-West Progressive Association which organized the $25 a couple dinner, presented Kerr with a landscape painting.

Among the guests at the dinner at the Estaminet Restaurant in Burlington were Ontario Premier John Roberts, and national PC leader Robert Stanfield, cabinet ministers Darcy McKeough, Allan Lawrence and Robert Welch.

ALGAE SALAD

The menu in the program packed fun at some recent pollution problems. Kerr, as minister of energy and resources, is responsible for pollution control.

Listed in the "joke" menu were palatable pollutants: Chedabucto Bay oiled lobster, a la Arrow, Tossed salad algae with Burlington Bay dressing, green beans hydro with smoke stack sauce, DDT spiced apple rings, smog rolls with strontium 90 butter and — in place of coffee — black tar.

Seek Billets, Meal Helpers for Tourney

Georgetown Kinettes have plunged into their annual job of seeing that the 900-plus young hockey players get lodged and fed during International Bantam Hockey Tournament Week. This year the tourney will run from March 21 through March 28.

Donna Moores is again in charge of billeting the Bantams who won't be commuting from towns in the immediate vicinity. This week Kinettes are telephoning residents who have taken Bantams into their homes for past tournaments.

Lunch and supper will be prepared and served at the Branch 120 Legion auditorium by various volunteer groups under the charge of Mrs. Jessie Hayes.
