

Children's Carnival Means Fun and Red Cross Money

Children on Greystone Crescent had a lot of fun and helped the Red Cross at the same time.

Friday afternoon, neighborhood children turned out for "The Greatest Show on Earth," a carnival, with fish pond, ring toss, wet sponge toss, and puppet show, all produced by local talent. In charge of the production were Susan Callaghan, Jacqueline Wild, Helen Christensen, Dwight Boothe, David Boothe, Ted Middlebro and David Callaghan.

CONTESTS TOO

In addition to the carnival attractions, there was a drawing and dancing contest, with wheelbarrow rides thrown in when there was energy available.

Prices ranged from 1c to 3c and the total money turned over to the Georgetown Red

Dwight Boothe and Ted Middlebro wait for David Callaghan to soak it to them with a wet sponge.

"The greatest puppet show on earth" is the billing the young promoters have put on their Punch and Judy Theatre. Puppeteers are Susan Callaghan, Jacqueline Wild, and Helen Christensen. Seated is David Callaghan and standing David Boothe.
