

Diduch - Barber Wedding Vows In Knox Presbyterian Church

MR. AND MRS. JOHN DIDUCH

Rev. Norman Young officiated at a ceremony in Knox Presbyterian Church on Sept. 26 when Phyllis Victoria Barber and Robert John Diduch were united in marriage. The church was decorated with standards of yellow glads and yellow and white daisy mums.

Kenneth K. Harrison was organist and Bruce Brown sang. She sang "How Wonderful Was the Day" before the procession, the Lord's Prayer during the ceremony and "Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith J. Barber, 8 King Street East, was given in marriage by her father in a double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a floor length empire style gown of light blue crepe, featuring an inverted front pleat, elbow length, pea sleeves and chapel shoulder train. The bodice and sleeves were trimmed with lace panels of pearl embroidered daisies and a shoulder length veil fell from a lace ring headpiece. She carried a cascade of yellow carnations, yellow and white daisy mums and stephanotis.

LANGUAGE ABUSIVE, "10 DAYS"

Although he pleaded not guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance, a 19 year old Brampton youth presented no defence on his behalf.

"I can recall being here before and no one listened to my evidence," he complained to Judge James Black, Wednesday.

The judge sentenced him to 10 days in jail in the absence of defence.

Georgetown Police constable Arnold Vanellief spotted the youth and two buddies loitering on the steps of a jewellery store last April.

He asked them to move on, but the accused used abusive language towards the officer and flipped a cigarette butt at the cruiser.

SPEAKS TO JAYCEES —

Police, Recreation Improvements In Dodokin's Mayoralty Platform

Georgetown's major problems have to be tackled now and corrected before the town becomes swallowed up in a regional system, and local grievances become hopelessly entangled in the red tape of that kind of government. So said lawyer Ron Dodokin in announcing his candidacy for mayor at a Georgetown Jaycees meeting at Braeside Farms, Norval, last Tuesday.

Dodokin operates a law practice in Georgetown in partnership with Walter Sopinka who will manage his election campaign.

"Unless we can cure our main problems before the advent of regional government they'll be that much harder to correct once we're absorbed," he told his audience.

LISTED PROBLEMS

He listed those problems which would get most of his attention as mayor as, police morale, a communications gap between council and the recreation committee, the method by which board appointments are made, lack of a town manager, the number of council committee meetings, and the Brumac proposal to create a new residential area that would add 10,000 to the town's population.

"Because only one of the three members of the Georgetown Police Commission is an elected official, that member, the mayor, should exercise a strong (Continued on Page 4)
