Licence Plates on Sale—White on Blue This Year

Ontario's 1971 licence plates for passenger cars, dual purpose vehicles and motorcycles went on sale, Tues., December 1st, at all issuing offices across the province.

Local Dept. of Transport registrar, Beatrice Clark, whose office is located at 41 Main St. South reported a mild flurry the first day. "I certainly wasn't rushed, but about 100 got their plates, but since then it's been very quiet." She reported a big business in snowmobiles, with owners anxious to take advantage of that first snowfall last week. Mrs. Clark said there are now several hundred of the vehicles in the area serviced by her office, and noted the number of owners of more than one machine have increased spectacularly, with many families having two machines. "In fact, one local owner has five of them," she said.

When asked if many people want a special number, i.e., their telephone numbers forming the last four numbers, etc., the registrar replied that a lot did. "If people want this if they leave the number desired, we phone them the day it comes up or a day ahead, and they drop in their ownership and pick up the desired plate. This serves two purposes, gives the person what they want, and is one less plate to handle as the deadline approaches." The only stipulation is that this doesn't hold good the last few days, when we're much too busy to pick them out.

Registration fees are unchanged. Passenger cars and dual purpose vehicles having eight cylinders, $35; six cylinders — $27.50; 4 cylinders, $20 and motorcycles $10.

The plates will be white on blue, the reverse of this year's colors. Deadline date for having new plates will be Saturday, February 27th, when 1970 plates will expire. There will be no extension.

The total number of plates handled in the province before the deadline is 2,150,000. It is suggested that inconvenience and delay can be avoided by obtaining plates in the next few weeks.

1970 plates for trucks, buses and trailers expire March 31st, 1971. Operators may consult their local agent for details of registration dates.

SNOWMOBILES NEAR MILLION

More than 750,000 snowmobiles are now in use. More than 285,000 of the snow scooters were sold in 1969 and estimates for 1970 sales push toward the 350,000 mark.
