

BRIDGE CLUB

Georgetown duplicate bridge club set an all-time record at a Christmas party last week when 22 tables of players attended.

Besides the bridge, director Duke Wilson and his wife provided sandwiches and Christmas cake, and there were a number of lucky draw prizes to add a festive note to proceedings.

Besides local players, there were visitors from Guelph, Oakville, Toronto, Acton, Erin and Brampton. And special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arch Bangs, whose home is in Granite City, North Dakota, where Mrs. Bangs operates a bridge studio. They were visiting with relatives in Guelph.

They proved their bridge know-how, each placing second in their section.

The games were split into two groups.

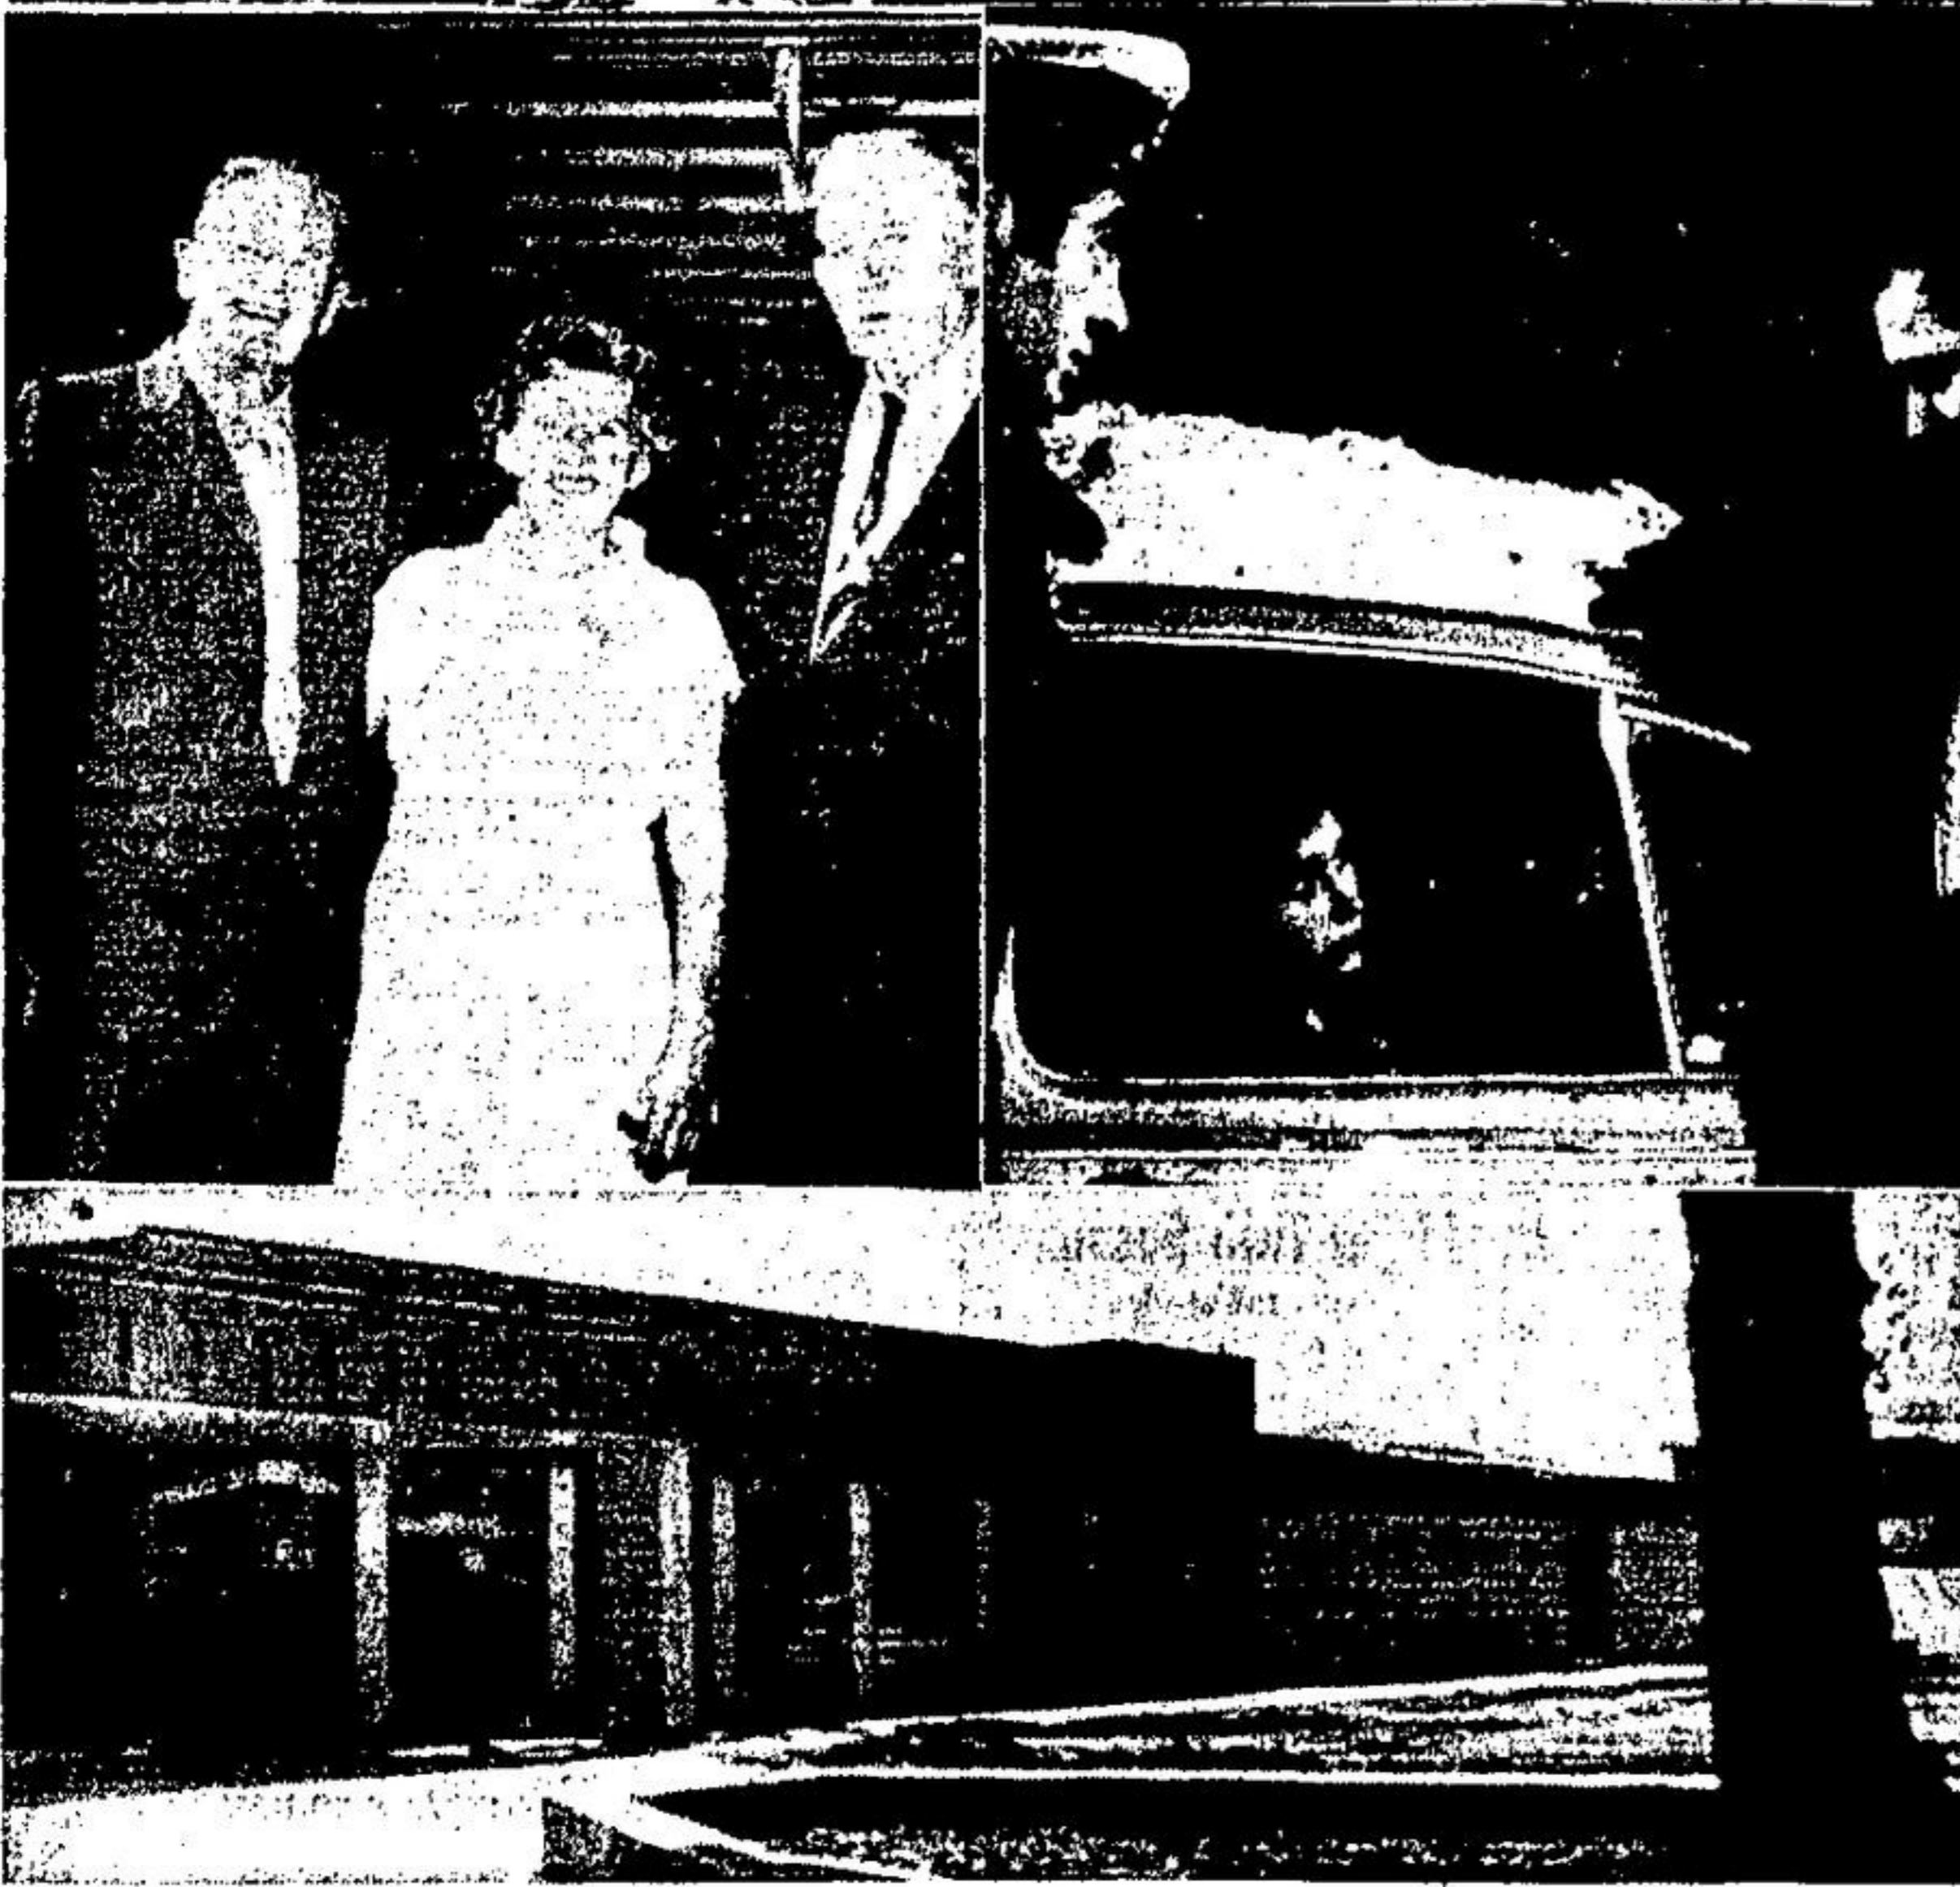

In Section A, North-South winners were Mr. and Mrs. Alf Hunt; Guelph; Arch Barnes and Peter Gifford; 2nd; Mr. and Mrs. John Young, Guelph; 3rd. East-West: 1st Harry Frost and Kay Harmon; 2nd Mrs. Marguerite Taylor and Mrs. Kay Campbell; 3rd, Ron Gibson and Ron Dawson.

Winners in Section B:

North-South — 1st Mr. and Mrs. Art Kwel, Guelph; 2nd Mrs. Arch Bangs and J. B. Nelson; 3rd, Dick Prust and Mike Lorusso; 4th Margery Mackenzie and Olive Logan.

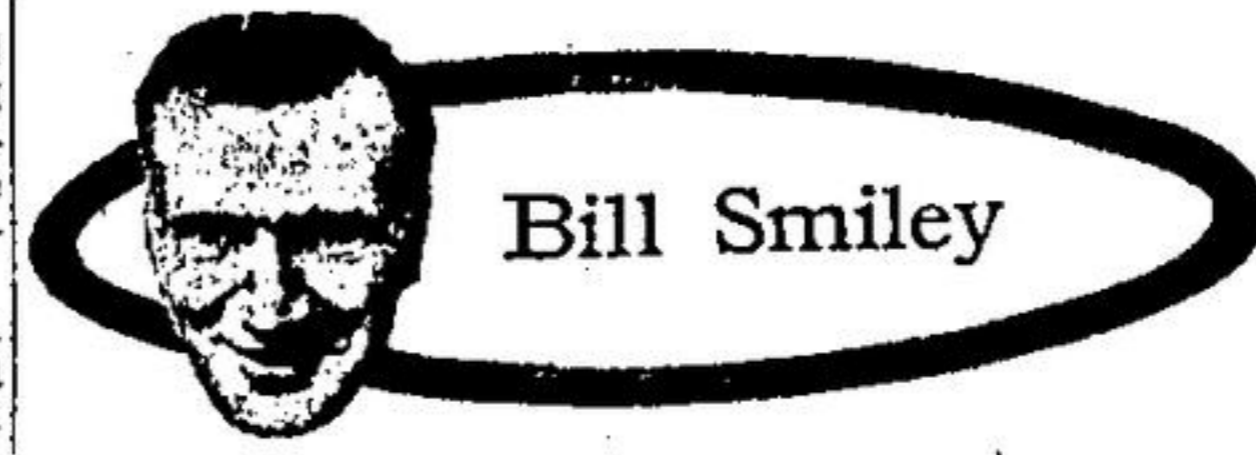

East-West — Mr. and Mrs. Larry Stone; 2nd, Jim Sargent and Leo Kistemaker; 3rd, Mrs. Bob Barber and Mrs. Fred Peters; 4th, Mrs. Nellie Goldham and Mrs. Gob Collier.

What About 1971?

Now that you didn't get what you wanted for Christmas, what would you like in 1971?

It's a pretty messy old world, as it always has been, and nobody is likely to get what he wants in the coming twelve months. But it's the only world we have, so let's make the best of it: hope, pray, dream and equally important, remember that the Lord helps those who help themselves.

For the world, we can only hope for an end to war, and pray for peace in all the touchy areas. But there's something Canada can do: stop selling arms. It's hypocritical to talk of peace, point the finger at others, when you're standing up to the waist in the muck of arms sales yourself.

I'm afraid we can only dream about an end to unemployment — pollution, terrorism and inflation. They won't be solved in 1971.

But surely to goodness some progress can be made toward solutions. There is something frightfully wrong when a country with the natural resources of Canada looks forward to a long hard winter for over half a million unemployed, at the same time that countries like Germany, prostrate 25 years ago, are crying for workers.

And we can do something in this country about pollution, if every soul puts his back into it. That's a bit Irish, but you know what I mean.

Terrorism? That's going to be a tough one. But surely, somewhere in the world, there is someone who can devise something to nullify the new weapons of thugs and fanatics throughout the world, the weapon of blackmail through kidnapping and hijacking. Man split the atom and hit the moon. Surely, surely.

Inflation is a cancer. But we're desperately searching for a cure for cancer. Can't we do the same for inflation. I, personally, will take a cut in income if the government will cut my income tax.

For my country, these are some of the things I'd like to see in 1971. Full employment, or as near as possible. Less economic and cultural dependence on our benevolent Uncle. A sharp decline in poverty, drug abuse and alcohol use. Lots of bright winter days and hot summer days. An end to the tension, one way or another, between Quebec and the rest of the country. An end to the endless talk about housing and education and equality, and the beginning of some action. A return to faith in our government, our religion and ourselves, all badly corroded in the last decade.

For my faithful and friendly readers, I'd like to see some special things in the coming year: good health; a closing of the generation gap; warmer personal relationships; fine, healthy children; a small oil bill; and if you must spoil the whole thing by kicking the bucket, may it be quickly and painlessly.

I also hope that your garden grows, that your car doesn't rust, that your roof doesn't leak, that your wife doesn't nag, that your husband doesn't drink too much. A big order, but there it is.

For myself I can dream, but I don't really want much. I'd like to improve my golf, fishing and curling. But I don't really hope. They seem to go downhill steadily.

I'd like to be able to walk without an elastic bandage around my bum knee. I'd like my waistline to stop growing and my hair to start growing. I'd like to wind up the year with the same number of teeth I have right now. These are still in the dream category.

I'd like to spend a full two weeks, anytime during the year, without a domestic crisis; kids or wife.

But most of all, I'd like to be sitting right here, a year from now, writing a column about a 1972 that looked a lot more promising than does 1971.

And the same to you.

NORVAL

Norval and Union Presbyterian Church YPS held a candlelight service in Norval Presbyterian Church on Christmas Eve at 8 p.m. with Miss Lyla McClure conducting the service.

The young people formed the choir with 26 voices singing several selections with Mrs. Mulder playing the organ. Michael Reed gave the call to worship, Charlotte Young read the scripture lesson and Lyla McClure led in prayer. Rev. Howard Smith gave the sermonette.
