Open House Yesterday For New Scotiabank
When the Bank of Nova Scotia opened its new Georgetown branch on Monday, it boosted the town's financial institutions to a total of six.
A two bank town until the town's rapid growth in the mid-fifties, Georgetown now has two branches of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Royal Bank of Canada, Toronto-Dominion Bank and Canada Trust.
Sproat comes here from St. Catharines. In his ten year career, he has been in Sudbury, Guelph, Niagara Falls and Kitchener. His wife, Carol Ann Jamieson is also a northerner, with Powassan her home town. They are both fond of golf and curling, and Mrs. Sproat also has a 10 year career in the bank. She was accountant at Welland when she retired to housekeeping. tt

TOUR BUILDING
An open house yesterday gave residents who had not already visited the new branch on business a chance to tour the building and meet manager Jerry Sproat and his staff.
The building is located at Guelph and Mountainview, adjacent to the Kinney Shoe Store.

Green Light For Fluoride
Town council has requested the Water Commission to proceed with plans to fluoridate Georgetown's water supply.
In December, over 60% of the 4330 voters who expressed an opinion in a plebiscite vote favoured the additive which is claimed to drastically reduce incidence of tooth decay in adolescents.
There were 2,630 voters in favour and 1,700 against.
