Drop-In Reopens With New Paint Job, New Rules

A reorganized and redecorated Drop-In Centre opened its doors three weeks ago, in the same location at Cedarvale Community Centre. The place has been painted a lighter colour, cleaned, and stripped of some of its worn out furniture.

The executive, too, is new and has drawn up new rules and regulations. The Centre will now be open from 7 p.m. till 12 on Fridays, from 2 p.m. till 12 on Saturdays, and from 2 p.m. till 10:30 p.m. on Sundays. In addition of their own basement room, the ground floor kitchen and the boardroom, will be available to the teens when not booked by other groups. On weekends these areas are seldom used by other groups.

NEW EXECUTIVE

The executive consists of Brian Bodin, Steve Bailey, Ray Landry, Randy White, Melanle Malus, Chris Boutchart, Connie Carter, and Susan McManus.

The executive or the adult consultant who will be on hand each evening, will have the right to evict anyone breaking the rules.

NO DRUGS OR ALCOHOL

Two rules which will be closely followed are the ban on all drugs or alcohol, and the ban on using other areas of Cedarvale other than those listed.

A folk concert is planned for next week, with any profits going toward fixing up the Centre.
