

New Crafts Shop is Family Affair

The first store in town devoted entirely to crafts and hobbies opened last week-end at 51 Wesleyan Street. The store is owned and operated by long-time hobbyist Jim Langedyk, and his wife Lida, of 9 Heather Court. The model railroader will find every gauge to suit his layout. The model boat, car and airplane are all here, but in addition there are many lesser known crafts, dip-it flowers, rug hooking, oil paints, modelling clay, beads for bead work, candle making supplies, and the newest craze, macrame. This is a type of heavy cord which is knotted to make belts and purses. Jim Langedyk is president of the North Halton Association for Mentally Retarded, and plans to keep one showcase for work done by the adults at A. R. C. Industries in Hornby.

The store is a family affair with the three eldest children helping out. They are 18 year old Mary, 16 year old Robert and 14 year old Jack. It would be too crowded for customers to get in if the rest of the ten children took part.

"If anyone is interested in a hobby or craft we don't cater to, let us know and we'll be sure to get it for them", stated owner Jim Langedyk.

Jim Langedyk recreates old sailing ship at the recent rug and hobby show where he displayed items to be sold in his shop.

Members of the Langedyk family are helping in the new store on Wesleyan Street. The dip-it flowers are among the new crafts available there.

Snow Barbecue Host To Premier, P-C Pals

Halton West MPP George Kerr said Thursday night the province's new Department of the Environment will result "in a more efficient effort" to protect Ontario against pollution.

Kerr, who was attending a cookout at the R.R. 2 Georgetown farm of Halton East MPP and Minister Without Portfolio James Snow, will be the province's first minister of the environment.

"The new legislation really amounts to an environmental bill of rights for Ontario residents," said Kerr.

FIRST READING
The legislation setting up the new department received first reading just prior to Kerr attending the cookout.

He said the 120-page bill gives the government broad powers to govern all forms of pollution by regulations which are yet to be determined.

Kerr said many of the regulations to deal with pollutants will be developed over the next six months. Many such as control of disposable bottles, won't be in before the summer is over.

MERGE PROGRAMS
The bill creates the new department of the environment by merging and combining anti-pollution programs now under the jurisdiction of various government departments.

The Environmental Protection Act would combine the pollution control activities of the Ontario Water Resources Commission, the Waste Management Act, the Pesticides Act and the Public Health Act.

PRESCRIBES FINES

It prescribes fines up to $500 for summary conviction and penalties of up to $10,000 a day for major industrial polluters. These are unchanged since the OWRC Act was amended last fall.

Kerr said that it was felt that the fines plus the possibility of a jail sentence were sufficient deterrent.

Noise-pollution sections will deal primarily with automobiles.

HERBICIDES

Premier William Davis who also attended the cookout, said this will be done in the next few months in consultation with health officials and industry.

The premier added that the legislation will not make it more difficult for farmers in such areas as animal wastes and the use of herbicides and pesticides.

BEEF BARBECUE

Halton East M.P.P. Jim Snow and John Root, provincial member for Wellington-Dufferin, were co-hosts at the barbecue. Guests, including Premier Davis and many cabinet ministers and Progressive-Conservative members of the Ontario legislature, enjoyed a beef barbecue in the cool outdoors, a welcome change from one of the hottest days of the year.

Some of the guests had a swim in the pool, though most were happy just chatting and exchanging political anecdotes with their friends.

Instal Faulkner New President of Rotary

Incoming president Ken Faulkner was presented with his president's pin and took over the gavel from Bob McDonald, when Rotarians held a dance and installation of officers on June 25 in St. Alban's parish hall, Glen Williams.

Mr. Faulkner then introduced his new executive and presented them with their pins — Paul Armstrong, 1st vice president; Howard Briggs, 2nd vice president; Murray Thoms, secretary; Frank Allen, treasurer and directors Bob Reynolds and Barry Timleck.

There were 75 Rotarians and guests attending.

Bob McDonald made a presentation to Mrs. Bob Gougeon in appreciation for her assistance at the club's home meetings.

Perfect weekly attendance was acknowledged for Ernie Pearce, 15 years; Ken Robertson, 10 years; Murray Thoms, 3 years; Ralph Ursel, 2 years; Howard Briggs and Ken Faulkner, one

Georgetown Council Briefs

At last week's council meeting, the solicitor was instructed to proceed with expropriation proceedings to acquire an easement through property on John Street West owned by Fred Maveal.

The easement is required for a sanitary sewer renovation.

Dolores Jordan was hired as a junior clerk-typist in the town office.

Penson Farm Equipment was engaged for weed cutting at an hourly rate of $8.50.

Asking to operate for six weeks more, council told Woodway Construction that it must locate its asphalt plant outside town boundaries.

SILVERWOOD Anniversary Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott attended a family dinner party at Terra Cotta with friends from London and Streetsville to celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burt entertained the Burt family at their home on Sunday with about 50 members attending for a picnic lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marchington visited with son Bob, his wife and family at Picton for a few days, and with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Grafton.

We had 4.88 inches of rainfall for the month of June, which has kept things growing nicely.

If these requirements were other than necessities then a case might be made for the high costs, but where the health and welfare of the people of this country is involved, then the government is justified in taking prompt and necessary action to protect the interests of the people.

If the government intends only to talk about these issues then we will not expect any remedy.

Action Should Include Dentists Optometrists

Georgetown, Ontario 31 Byron Street.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Any government investigation or action concerning the fees levied by doctors and the sensational earnings made by them and reported in the press should include the dental practitioners and optometrists as well.

Figures submitted by dentists for the actual cost of making the dentures at about $50 per set and for which the user must pay anywhere from $200 to $500 is an indication of how the public is being fleeced.

It is time that not mere talk but action be taken to remedy these situations. If it were not for the overpricing of these services they could well be included in the O.H.S.I.P. coverage.

On behalf of some optometrists, I will say that there are a few operators who will provide glasses at a reasonable price, but you have to go to Toronto or some other large centre for them. In contrast, those suppliers who operate in smaller centers where

His interest in sports extended to many fields. He was an executive member of Georgetown Baseball association, and managed the Legion ball team in the house league. He was an accomplished dart player in the Industrial Dart League. And he was interested in Scouting, assisting 1st Georgetown troop in some of its activities and helping at the scouts' chicken barbecue.

He leaves his wife and one son, Stephen, his father in Georgetown, a brother John Anthony of Timmins and sister Mrs. Mary Cummings, Toronto.
