Throwing Things Overboard

by Rev. F. N. Young, Knox . Presbyterian Church, Georgetown.

We at the Presbyterian manse are paying up for our sins of omission. We are moving to another charge in a few days and are discovering all the tasks and decisions we had put off until a more suitable time - the tidying up of the basement, the cleaning of windows, and the throwing out of papers and trinkets that are no longer only so much money to do essential. Since we are moving to a smaller house there must be a anything about them, shaking down, a contracting of our household effects. What do we keep and what do we throw out?

Well this situation is a parable of life. There may be certain things that become securities in life and we get so that we cling to them. They become the real things and we simply won't let go of them and all the time we are missing the things that will minister to our salvation, the things that will bring lasting peace and joy.

LIGHTEN THE SHIP

There is a very suggestive incident in the life of Paul when he was on his way to Rome in a frail ship. The cargo consisted of wheat that would fetch a great price in Rome, but in order to lighten the ship, in order to save their lives in a time of storm, they had to "cast out the wheat into the sea". Salvation was brought about by lightening the

And I wonder if our modern church is willing to throw things overboard, to lighten the ship? It seems to me that the very root of our problem to-day is that life is too easy. There is not enough discipline. We are trying to straddle the fence. Or we might put it this way. There is a sense in which the gospel is a package deal. There is comfort and there is challenge. You can't have one without the other to be effective Christians out in the world. If we really want to serve Christ with our whole heart, soul, mind and strength we must be willing to throw things overboard. There is no other way.

FAREWELL May I take this opportunity to say farewell to the host of friends we have made here, and to say how much we have enjoyed this growing community with its lovely residential areas. May I also say to the men whose fellowship I have enjoyed in the Ministerial Association that it has been a privilege to know you. May God bless you richly in

The Legion has made it quite clear that it will not accept a rate increase; it has also stated that it will not raise the rates to the boys; the Recreation Committee can either allow the Legion to continue at last year's rates, and let the taxpayer absorb the increased costs, or continue to negotiate with the Legion, which has already failed twice; failing either, the Committee itself can assume responsibility for the

it would appear that a moderate increase in costs to the participants would meet the financial requirements; however, the Committee has no authority to suggest this to any group. No one likes to pay increased costs; no one likes to say that rates have to go up; no one likes to charge more.
