

Bride, Groom, Graduates of Trent University

MR. AND MRS. PETER TOMLINS

Two graduates of Trent University, Peterborough, were married in a ceremony at Barrie on August 28.

Ruth Denise Higgott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Higgott and Peter Gerald Tomlins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tomlins, 46 McIntyre Crescent, were married in St. George's Anglican Church there, in a ceremony performed by Rev. David Kaye. The bride's father gave her in marriage in a double ring ceremony. Mrs. Helen Smethurst was organist.

The bride wore a self-designed gown of lagoda, A-line empire look, with mandarin collar, camelot sleeves and deep cuffs trimmed with pearl buttons. A set-in front panel came to a point at the empire waistline, accented at the point with a satin bow with long, flowing streamers. The gown was trimmed with ribbon-woven lace down the front from the shoulders, on either side of the hem. Her mantilla headpiece, covered with lagoda and matching lace, held a silk illusion veil, trimmed with Viennese lace. She carried a medley bouquet of white carnations, yellow roses, yellow and white daisy mums, bachelor buttons, baby's breath and trailing green fern. As she left the church, the bride was presented with a silver good luck horseshoe by her cousin, 20-month-old Celia Diephuis of London. It was sent from England by the bride's grandmother.

Her sister Janet Higgott was maid of honour, and cousins, Wendy and Andrea Goedemondt were junior bridesmaids. Miss Higgott was in mauve imported lace over taffeta, her gown featuring a scooped neck, empire waist and camelot sleeves. Waist and sleeves were trimmed with deep purple velvet ribbon and bows, and long streamers fell from the bow at the waist. Junior bridesmaids were in pale yellow nylon sheer flocked with white daisies, over taffeta. Their gowns featured jewelled necklines and renaisance sleeves and were trimmed with deep yellow velvet ribbon similar to the maid of honour's.

Attendants carried summertime baskets of mauve, yellow and white daisy mums, yellow roses, carnations, bachelor buttons and baby's breath.

Carl Tomlins was groomsman for his brother. Ushers were the bride's brother David Higgott, Barrie and Jim Dalziel, Georgetown. At a reception at the Ponderosa, the bride's mother received wearing an empire waisted dress of blue chiffon over taffeta with long, full sleeves, sleeveless lace coat, blue flowers in her hair and a white gardenia corsage. The groom's mother also received, wearing a pink crepe dress with an overlay of lace medallions and a white gardenia corsage.

Travelling to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania for their honeymoon, the bride wore a pink and white hot pant dress outfit, white accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Mr. and Mrs. Tomlins are making their home in Thunder Bay.

Always Work For Weed Cutters

Halton County Weed Inspector Doug Currie told the agricultural committee of County Council there was enough work to be done cutting weeds in the county to keep 20 mowers busy until the end of September with just the back orders.

He explained his men are ordered into vacant fields if the landowner doesn't keep the weeds cut. If the owner doesn't pay in 15 days the bill is attached to his tax bill. Charges for the service run between $8 and $10 an hour.

England, West Coast Evening of Travel

It was a travelling evening when members of the United Church Women of St. Andrew's Church held a general meeting in the church board room, September 8.

Following a pot luck supper, Mrs. Kelvin Johnston showed slides of the Lake District of England, pictures of York Cathedral and other churches and chapels in the area.

Then Mrs. Florence Baker showed slides of her trip to western Canada and Vancouver Island with particularity fascinating shots of the training of whales and porpoises at Marineland.

Projects for the coming year were discussed during a business meeting. Mrs. P. Bell closed the meeting with devotions.

Ursel Musical Director for English Comedy

Brampton Musical Society, under the leadership of musical director Ralph Ursel of Georgetown are turning the clock back to the thirties to restage a hit musical of the English stage, "Me and My Girl".

The comedy with music, rather than a musical comedy, was written for the late Lupino Lane, who dominated the English stage and movie scene for many years. He was the father of Ida Lupino, who kept the famous acting family name alive.

The comedy has a slight "Pygmalion" touch, with Cockneys and aristocrats mingling and eventually converting each other to another way of life. The Lambeth Walk was first introduced in this presentation, a dance that swept the world during World War II.

AUDITIONS
Sunday, October 17, is the first day for auditioning, for all the would be actors, dancers and singers in the area. The auditions are being held in St. Paul's United Church, almost at the four corners in downtown Brampton.

Alan Wells is producer, with June Gosling choreographer, Bob Whiteford, lighting, and Alan Maxwell doing the set design.
