

Eight Will Eat Well - Sure as Shootin'

Eight sharp shooters bagged turkeys and hams at Georgetown Revolver Club's recent turkey shoot at the Limehouse target range.

Unlike those gobblers in turkey shoots of years ago these cleaned and frozen birds were only the prizes - not the targets. It was an outdoor shotgun competition with ammunition supplied by the Revolver Club. Winners were Ron Warnock, Dan Kidd, Dave Shoebridge, Mike Marko, Keith Tost, J. Mason, Norm Wodhams, and Lee Magloughlin.

The gun wasn't loaded, but the camera was. The man at the butt end is Gord McBean.

He was one of the competitors at Georgetown

Revolver Club's September 18 turkey shoot.

The turkey is frozen but not with fear. Modern day durkey shoots use regular targets with the birds as prizes. Keith Tost was a winner.

Council Discusses Anti-Noise

Preparation of an anti-noise by-law will be one of the first jobs for Georgetown's new clerk-administrator, Douglas Fritchard, when he begins his new position next month.

Thursday, council passed a motion to have him prepare such a by-law.

Cr. Donna Denison, who proposed this, pointed to the need for legislation to cover various types of nuisance noises for which council receives complaints from time to time.

Cr. Ern Hyde said he doesn't disagree with this, but termed such a by-law "very sticky."

He suggested sample by-laws from other municipalities be obtained and discussions held before finalizing any anti-noise plan.

Improve Sidewalk

Disatisfied with a sidewalk installed on Main Street North during highway improvements, council on Thursday decided to take action.

A letter will be sent to the highways department, asking that defects in the sidewalk be rectified.

Clark at the June 7th clinic.

These special donors will be presented with scrolls.

Going through the clinic files Mrs. Erica Thompson, chairman of the Blood Donor Committee in Georgetown, commented that she was pleased to see blood donors come out to the clinics again, who used to give blood years ago.

Set Date Cocktail Balloting

Georgetown voters will be asked their opinion on allowing cocktail lounges in the municipality in a plebiscite vote which probably will take place January 15.

Discussing this at a council meeting Thursday, clerk C. G. Benham said that the Liquor Control Board said a planned November vote could not be arranged in time and that a January date would be more suitable.

SATURDAY

It is possible that the voting lists now being compiled for the Ontario election will be satisfactory, he said. The vote will be on a Saturday, and the school board has offered facilities for polling subdivisions.

Registration Down in Halton County Separate Schools

Halton County Separate School Board reports registration is down 0.5 per cent this year over last. Total enrolment in the system was set at about 7,800 pupils. Education director Dr. Leno Braida reported the "slight" decline to the separate school board at last week's board meeting, the first of the new school year.

Braida said attendance has dropped by 24 students in Oakville, 10 in Georgetown and 11 in Milton.

44 ROOMS
Throughout the Halton County Separate school system, he said the total number of classrooms vacant is 44.

"But that doesn't mean they're not in use," Braida said. "They are used for such things as music classes and so forth. It just means there isn't a teacher assigned to those classrooms."

NONCATHOLICS
Following the meeting Braida explained the non-Catholics are welcome to attend separate schools "as long as there is room for them."

He said some non-Catholics sometimes wish to have their children attend separate schools "because of the environment, or maybe because they live next door to one."

He said the cost is "less than $100 per child."

Mountainview Near Completion

Paving started on Mountainview Road South on Friday. And town engineer Eric Willis told council Thursday that he expects reconstruction of the street will be completely finished by mid-October or earlier. The street, a major artery to new subdivision in Georgetown's east end, is having a complete paving and face lifting to the Hungry Hollow hill.
