

LOVE THOSE HOBO STARS

As every one knows, children love dogs. And when the dogs happen to be movie stars and smart ones at that, the addition of kids to the scene can't help but make for a touching scene. From left, Lynn Gray of R.R.1 Norval, Debbie Allen of R.R.1 Norval, Paul Cargill of Acton and Michael Tremblay of Brampton admire, Thorn, London, Hobo and Venus, stars of the television series The Littlest Hobo. They made acquaintances at a recent new store opening where the popular German Shepherds and owner Chuck Eisenmann made an appearance.

What Is Perfect Joy?

by Fr. P. Wood.
HOLY CROSS CHURCH
There is a famous story about Saint Francis of Assisi and his disciple Brother Leo. Francis and Leo were walking along the road, and Francis said to Leo, "Brother Leo, do you want to know what perfect joy is?" Of course Leo did because he loved Francis and treasured all his words.
Then Francis told him that to have the power of working miracles, or to possess all wisdom, or even the gift of preaching that would convert the whole world, would not be to have perfect joy. "Rather," he said, "suppose at the end of the day, we should come to our friary - wet, cold, dirty and hungry - and the doorkeeper should say to us, 'Get out of here.' That would not yet be perfect joy, Leo. But perhaps the doorkeeper would also refuse us food and water. That still would not be perfect joy. And foolish. That still would not be perfect joy."
Now I think that we do not understand this story unless we see Francis and Leo walking down the road, doubled up with laughter, and with each sentence, laughing more and more.
Then Francis continued, "Suppose the doorkeeper beat us on the head and called the friars to beat us. That still would not be perfect joy. And if he called the police and had us thrown in jail so that everything we had was taken away from us" (and I think he said this with an enormous burst of laughter), then, Brother Leo, this would indeed be perfect joy, for then we truly would have nothing to glory in save the cross of Jesus Christ.
Why should anyone laugh and say, "It is perfect joy to experience rejection and immense pain?" Are we to think that the pain of Christian experience is some perverse masochism? No, the laughter of Francis is the laughter of a man who is truly sane. It is profoundly joyful to go to the cross, with all that it implies, because it is there and there alone that we find Christ.
If we seek to save our lives, to store them up and hoard them, to deal them out very carefully and prudently, we will lose them. We will lose them because we fail to recognize who gives them to us and why. In our eagerness and prudence we will be alone. We will wall ourselves in from all our brothers and sisters, and, in the very end, from God. We will lose everything.
But if we lose our lives, spend them and throw them away, as it were; if we "foolishly" give them over to Jesus Christ, we will find them. We will find them because we will find Him Who is the Lord. He is our life. It is Jesus whom we were meant to love. It was He who was meant to live in us. It is He who will pour out the life we want, in a measure which we can hardly begin to grasp. And thus it is because we find Christ by taking up our cross and following Him on the way that He walked, that we find perfect joy.

Limehouse Missionary Is Church Speaker
Rev. James E. Sutherland, Presbyterian missionary home on furlough after 17 years in Formosa, conducted the morning service at Limehouse church Sunday. He told of great advancements in education, religion, health and manufacturing since the first Canadian missionary arrived 100 years ago. He was Dr. George Leslie McKay, for whom a memorial hospital was built at Taipei. Missionaries today are not the preachers and teachers but advisers to native leaders, he said.

The WMS observed their fall thanksgiving at the service. The choir sang an anthem and Mrs. William Karm and Mary Lou Brown sang a duet.
Sympathy is extended to Mrs. William Shebourne and family in the sudden death of her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Odam at her home at Willowdale.
Mrs. Alex Thomson of Moose Jaw, Sask. visited her son Ron, his wife and family, 4th Line, for a week recently.
Limehouse Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. A.W. Benton Thursday, following dinner served by the hostess. Members sang "The More We Get Together" with roll call answered by "A resolution I would like passed." President Mrs. F.T.C. Brown presided. Mrs. Benton reported from the district directors' meeting at Milton Oct. 4. Mrs. Sanford, convener of resolutions, took the chair for the program. Mrs. Mitchell read current events and each convener read an item pertaining to her subject. County president Mrs. George Henderson was a visitor and ex-
