How much hot water will you run out of this week?

 In most households hot water rates pretty high on the priorities list. And yet a lot of women find themselves running short of hot water just when they need it most. The answer? A properly sized Natural Gas hot water heater. It'll bounce back quickly time after time to keep pace with all your hot water requirements. And a Natural Gas hot water heater is thoroughly dependable, almost trouble-free. And because it's Natural Gas and burns clean—you'll know you're doing your part to help control air pollution.
 Rent or buy a Natural Gas hot water heater. If you run out and do that, you won't run out of hot water next week.
