

Work of Local Craftsmen In Moore Park Boutique

Sara Ellen Melton did this watercolour of Margaret Trudeau from a newspaper picture.

Paintings hang on every wall of Baremel Studio at 106 Moore Park Cres., despite the fact it is not primarily an art gallery but a handicraft boutique.

Almost all the paintings are done by one of the owners, Barbara Ellen Melton, whose abbreviated name makes up Baremel.

A particular favourite of hers is a water colour of Margaret Trudeau, which she painted from a newspaper picture. Barbara does and sells water colours, oils and acrylics, but specializes in portrait painting.

Her sister, Julie Harlow, who operates the studio with her, works in ceramics. This is the first anniversary of their operation.

In addition to paintings and ceramics, the studio features leather work, bubble glass, enamelling on jewellery, hand knit and crocheted belts, pouches, baby clothes, wall hangings, stuffed toys and polished stone jewellery. All the crafts are done by local craftsmen.

"Should Provide Living Space"

Manor Board Urges Welfare, OHC Co-Operating For Aged

Ontario Housing Corporation and the provincial health and welfare department should co-operate on providing living space for senior citizens, says the Halton Centennial Manor Board.

In discussion last Wednesday of priorities for senior citizens, board members advocated placing senior citizens housing near homes for the aged.

Georgetown Deputy-Reeve Arthur Speight said, "Many citizens can move around and care for themselves. If their housing was near a home like this, they could get 'meals on wheels', possibly the only thing they need help with."

REGULAR LOSSES

Warden Frank Oakes said municipalities are reluctant to build senior citizen housing because of regular losses arising from rents geared to income. Municipalities pay seven-and-a-half per cent of the annual losses.

Oakville Deputy-Reeve Harry Barrett said that small a loss was worth paying for the value received.

SHUFFLED

The members also criticized any suggestion that the elderly be shuffled around the province to fill vacant beds in homes for the aged.

"School buses for kids are bad enough," said Tom Hill, Esqueping reeve and board chairman. "The elderly are the people who established this country for us. They deserve the greatest respect we can give them."

DIGNITY

Barrett said the elderly must be treated with dignity. Part of that treatment is ensuring an institutional residence for instance the Manor, is close enough to their homes and neighborhoods for them to keep in touch.

The warden also said OHC must inspect its policies on maximum increase costs for land for senior citizen units.

Acton's units are distant from the centre of town, where they belong, he said, because OHC would not pay a little extra for the central location.

FURTHER AWAY

Speight said Georgetown's present 38 units are in Esqueping Township but actually only a short walk from the downtown business core.

He said OHC is insisting the next units be within the Georgetown boundaries which will actually put them further away from the centre of town than if they were built alongside the present units.

NORTH HALTON REPORT

During the week of November 7-13, inclusive, officers of the Ontario Provincial Police stationed at North Halton Detachment worked a total of 910 1/2 hours and patrolled 8,931 miles on area roads. Charges were laid against 23 drivers for driving infractions and 34 drivers were warned about their driving. Proceedings held in Milton Court resulted in 15 convictions being registered.

General occurrences numbered 40. These included: 2 break and enters, 1 of the break and enters resulted in the theft of a quantity of assorted tools, 3 persons were charged for violating the Liquor Control Act and 3 domestic disputes were investigated. One vehicle was recovered for another Police Department, 1 trespassing complaint was reported and an occurrence of arson is still under investigation. Two persons have been charged with attempted theft and 1 person was reported missing and later located. There were 2 hunting complaints.

A fatal fall from the escarpment near Kelso Conservation area was investigated November 13. Three parties were climbing when 2 fell, killing 1 and injuring the other. The remaining occurrences were minor in nature.

This reporting period saw officers investigate 19 collisions involving 26 vehicles. The total amount of damage done in these collisions was estimated at $10,455.00. Seventeen collisions resulted in property damage only and the 2 remaining collisions resulted in injury to 2 people. Four collisions involved a car and an animal.

Three drivers have been summoned to appear in Court as a result of officers investigating these collisions and more charges are pending. Causes of these collisions have been attributed to: fail to yield, speed too fast for road conditions and speed too fast for traffic conditions.

Prov. Const. J. H. L. Redpath Detachment Accident Prevention Officer visited Limehouse Public School speaking to 110 students. A tour of the North Halton Detachment Office was conducted for 49 Cubs and leaders from the 3rd and 4th Milton Cub Packs and an address was given to members of the Limehouse Silverwood and Bannockburn 4H Clubs about traffic safety.

INATTENTIVE

Facts prove that inattention causes many collisions. In 1960, 230 people lost their lives in collisions caused by inattentive driving. Many drivers believe they are able to carry on an interesting conversation with others in the car, or listen intently to their car radio...and still pay attention to their driving. There are lots of times on the road when even just one second of inattention could result in a collision. When driving, don't let your attention wander...even for one second. Remember...safe driving requires your full attention...all the time.
