

Trail Club Worried About Proposed Power Towers

Twelve concerned members of the Bruce Trail Association met Saturday to discuss implications of the proposed Ontario Hydro power line through Chinguacousy on the Bruce Trail.

A spokesman said the meeting was called to draw attention to the Bruce Trail Association.

P. E. Dams, Fifth Line West, Chinguacousy, said he was under the impression the escarpment was protected by a bill which states that the escarpment must be left for recreational use.

LETTER TO DAVIS

Mr. Dams said the result of the meeting will now go to the Bruce Trail Association's head office. He said letters have been sent to Premier William Davis and other people in the area, protesting the proposed route for the power line.

Mr. Dams said this would affect the whole area if the hydro lines went through the trail.

"It is funny that with a stroke of the pen from point A to point B the hydro people can take over everything," said Mr. Adams.

Mr. Dams said some of the farmers in the area are anxious to have the line go through. He said the farmers have in mind pay for land which it would then rent back to the farmers for $1 a year.

"This area should be preserved the way it is," said Mr. Dams. "People who want the line to go through have never lived in the city."

PRESERVE AREAS

"I don't think it is a monetary thing at all," said Mr. Dams. "We just have to keep our conservation areas as they are."

Fog Plus Slippery Roads

Pontiac driven by Mary Dorothy Slater of R.R.1, Limehouse.

Eight year old Gary Gillespie of 8 Prince Charles Drive suffered cuts and bruises Thursday when hit by a car while walking west on Prince Charles Drive. Jennifer Cooper of 28 Joycelyn Crescent was the driver of the car which was also westbound. The boy was taken to hospital by his mother.

A 1971 Chev driven by John Ashton Rogers, R.R.1, Norval, and a 1963 Chev driven by Jennie David of 42 Queen Street received $200 and $50 respectively when they collided on John Street, November 30, at the Memorial arena.

A rash of single car accidents on the outskirts of town in the last few days reflects foggy weather and greasy road conditions.

Joseph Kracic, 7 Eleanor Crescent was taken to Georgetown Hospital with injuries to his ribs and right hand, following an accident on the 7th line north of Ashgrove December 7.

$400 damage was done to his '62 Chev, when he was forced off the road into the ditch.

A two car accident on 17 side-road and the 10th line, saw a total of $1,300 damage but no injuries suffered, when a '69 Cougar driven by Hubertus Vanderham, and a '72 Pinto driven by Norman Blair, 17 Bairdow Cres. collided. $500 damage was done to the Cougar, and $800 to the Pinto.

Blood Battle: "BEST" OF CARE FOR MAYOR

Georgetown's mayor Bill Smith got the 'Best' of care when he made his donation at the Mayors' Challenge blood clinic here Monday. That's Milton mayor Brian Best providing the bedside manner. Positions will be changed at Milton's blood clinic in January.

Four hundred and forty-four people attended the Monday clinic of which 39 were rejected for a total donation of 405 blood packs. There were 43 new donors.

About 1,000 registered donors were contacted prior to the clinic in a letter from the Georgetown mayor who has challenged other Halton communities to equal Georgetown's blood donation.

In last year's December clinic 367 offered blood, and 342 were accepted. There were 39 new donors at that one.
