TV Types Too Much, But Retarded are Real Winners

by RALPH HAWES

With so much advanced publicity it was inevitable that the Saturday Night All Star Hockey Game would be nothing else but a success.

The extent of the success must have been far beyond the hopes and dreams of those associated with it.

The name of the game was for the mentally retarded, and public were there in droves to support it.

Although the Legion and Kinsmen All Stars greatly outnumbered the Kitchener TV and Radio All Stars, they fell short on the team work and scoring ability. But it was a good clean game which no one took too seriously and provided, along with lots of laughs and chuckles, a nice donation to the North Halton Mentally Retarded Association.

AT THEIR BEST

The Legion Pipe Band, who as always were at their best, received a big hand from the spectators as did Chico the clown, who not only kept the small fry happy with his antics on the ice, but increased their happiness when he commenced to distribute candies among them.

The Branch Cheerleaders were something else. They had to be seen to be appreciated.

TWO PRIZES

Incidentally, the final score was the T.V. Stars 10, Georgetown 5.

One star was very busy after the game raising funds for the M.R. The Branch's million dollar boy Jim (Big M) Murphy, was selling his autographed picture at 10 cents for his initials, 25 cents for his full signature.

All in all the All Star Benefit Game went over with a big bang and it is hoped to repeat it next season.

There will be many youngsters quite happy with the evening for they went home with autographed photos of N.H.L. greats, and autographed hockey sticks.

BRANCH BITS

At the Branch on Friday, Joe in spite of the antagonistic conditions managed to bring his dart shoot to a successful conclusion. Firstly the P.A. was on the blink, secondly Joe had a cold and could only whisper, and was forced to do much walking to bring the

Trend to Smaller Classes In Evidence This Term

There has been a significant reduction in the number of large classes in Halton schools this year.

The class-size committee of the Halton County Board of Education last Thursday night reported the reductions result mostly from more efficient timetabling and some consolidation of courses. Halton elementary schools have about 20 more classes with 30 to 40 students than last year. Most of the reductions in class size have been at the secondary level.

Eleven of the county's classes have more than 40 students by design. Only 19 secondary school classes in the county have more than 40 students, most of which are at the grade nine level, and evenly distributed throughout Halton.

CLASS SIZE

The class size committee reports that further reductions in class size cannot be accomplished by increasing spending - provincial guidelines have curtailed overspending. The committee suggests that better staff utilization, better school programming and increased staff motivation could help reduce class sizes. The committee recommends that funds for short-term supply teachers be reallocated "to more productive use". Increased use of volunteer assistants reorganization could also help reduce class sizes, the report suggests.

NO LIMITS

Local Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation representatives say continuing effort must be exercised in Halton to offset the relatively high pupil-teacher ratio in the secondary schools. The OSSTF says no limits on class size should be imposed, but emphasis centered on the pupil-teacher ratio.

REAL GAIN

The class size committee recommends that emphasis should be put on reducing class sizes at the primary level, with extra attention to "potential special class students".

Halton's director of education, Jim Singleton, says there is no sense in dropping the average class size from 29 to 23 students. "The real gain comes when you can drop it to 25", he says.
