

Seven Guides Enrol Third Company

The 3rd Guide Company under leaders Peggy Shannon and Larretta Pearson held an enrolment ceremony for the following girls March 16: Debbie Eyre, Jeannie Robertson, Mandy Armstrong, Robin Marshall, Heather Rogers, Laurie McDonald and Robin Switzer. On the same evening, 21 girls passed their Fire Brigade Badge course which had been given by Mr. Irv Lewis. Many of the girls parents attended the ceremony. Guides from the same company enjoyed an evening's swimming at Mayfield. GUIDES NEED MOTHER'S HELP Each girl promises to do her duty to her fellow man. Each girl promises to help others, her family, her community, her country. Each girl respects and accepts discipline which is imposed for the good of all. Each girl learns skills and crafts. Camp life teaches a girl to live happily and comfortably out of doors. The girls are partners with their adult leaders who guide rather than direct. Membership is voluntary and the whole movement is directed by volunteers.

District Commissioner Mrs. M. Thucko, left, received this trefoll of colms from three Rose Patrol Brownies, Linda Middleton, Kim Herrington and Kathy Booth in a presentation ceremony last week. Also in the picture (behind) are Captain Linda Hutchins, Lieutenant Margaret Rennie and Lieutenant Eydie Mowat.

Division Commissioner Mrs. Doreen Melcombe.

B. & P. Club Meet

The discussion of resolutions being brought forth at the Provincial Conference, of the Business and Professional Women, being held in Kenora, in May was the order of business when the local club met on Monday evening, at North Halton Golf and Country Club. The club was invited to Bracebridge for a seminar on Pollution the weekend of April 29th. An excellent report was received on the Wine and Cheese party, held recently in Holy Cross Church. The club has been approached to canvass for the C. N. I. B. and some of the members will do so. Miss Nora Krantz will represent the club at the Kenora Provincial Conference. The National Conference will be held in Toronto in July, many are planning to attend this bi-annual affair. Plans were discussed for the Rummage and Bake Sale to be held May 12 and 13. Mrs. Audrey Scott is the convener.

Throughout the year, volunteers do a lot you never hear about in the fight against cancer. They drive patients to clinics, and supply small comforts such as tea and coffee. They visit schools and various groups to show films and talk about ways to prevent cancer. Some 50,000 of them conduct the annual campaign for funds that are needed in the fight against cancer. Give your share when the time comes. And if you want to serve as a volunteer, either during the campaign or throughout the year, contact your local cancer unit.

Cancer can be beaten.

Ten Schools Involved

Georgetown Hosting Halton's Gymnastics Championships

Gymnasts from 10 schools in Halton County will be competing for the Halton County Championship in Georgetown high school, Saturday.

The meet will begin at 10.00 a.m. in gyms 1 and 2 of Georgetown high school, with awards presentation at 4.30 p.m.

Each girl is represented by approximately 15 girls, ranging from Novice (those who have never before competed) through Junior and Senior to Elite (outside club) competitors. Girls will be performing routines on uneven bars, balance beam, free exercise and vault. Mrs. Jill Boothby, meet convener, and Cathy Lince and Linda Oprica, meet managers, have been busy making arrangements for judges, and other personnel required for the meet. The Georgetown team is aiming for the championship. Even though they do not have a complete team, the girls have done extremely well in exhibition meets in the past month. Spectators are welcome for a small admission price.

Teachers Settle, Get 7.5% Average Pay Hike

In the earliest settlement since the inception of the Halton County Board of Education, Halton's 2,234 teachers voted to accept an average 7.5 percent hike in wages, last week.

The secondary school teachers won a total of 7.9 percent increase, 3.36 percent in the annual increment, and 4.58 percent in the negotiated increase. Elementary teachers emerged with a 7.12 percent increase, 2.88 percent in annual increment and 4.24 percent in negotiated increase.

Tom Ramautarsingh, president of Halton chapter of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, told the Board 81 percent of the high school teachers approved the wage settlement. He praised the negotiating committee "for the tone of the negotiations this year", which he said had improved tremendously. He termed both committees as "co-operative" and claimed the result was a satisfactory settlement without undue delay.

Last year the negotiations stretched out over seven months and ended with a 7.4 percent increase.

Wages for high school teachers range from a beginning rate for a teacher with no experience from $7,200 to a maximum of $16,300, with allowances for post graduate degrees of $500.

Elementary school teachers with no experience start at $5,500, and range up to the same maximum as high school teachers.

High school principals will earn between $21,000 and $24,250, with three increments of $750 and one of $500 spread over four years, and vice principals between $18,500 and $20,500 with two increments of $700 and one of $600, over three years.

Elementary school principals vary from a minimum of $16,500 to a maximum of $21,250.

Department heads receive an extra allowance, while coordinators and consultants are paid approximately the same as vice principals.

Mr. Ramautarsingh told The Herald there are still some areas of concern. He said teachers are not satisfied with the approach taken to the raises for people in the maximum salary and above category, since they received increases less than the cost of living in many cases. He also expressed alarm at the Board's decision to eliminate allowances for teachers in special vocational schools, and suggested the membership is not happy with the two-tier system of categorizing principals.

Board chairman Ernie Bodnar stated the $300 allowance for special vocational allowances will be removed by 1973-74. He pointed out that teachers in these categories usually have small classes and lighter work loads. Bodnar stated that the Board will not have to cut teachers or any form of education to stay within the government spending limits, as Halton's board had always been within them. "We have even been able to set aside $200,000 for innovations this year", he commented.
