

French Canadian Teens Learn Home Nursing

Nancy Hayes and Pauline Casey are two of 10 French Canadian teenage girls currently learning home nursing in a 12 week course being conducted by Mrs. France Lippe for French speaking teenagers. Here, they practice making a bed with the patient in it.

Jacqueline Gregoire tends to Huberte Savoie.

Huberte Savoie plays the patient for Jeannette Lavac during one of Mrs. France

Lippe's lessons in home nursing for French Canadian teenagers here.

DID YOU KNOW

Ontario statistics show that a male driver is less likely to get into trouble when he is first qualified than when he has had two or three years' experience. This is supported by a recent U.S. study of suburban male drivers which shows that accident and violations were most numerous at age 20, says the Ontario Safety League.

The study reports: "The onset of adulthood just before 21 was an intersection point of several motivational trends; hostility and thrill-seeking were still high, driving confidence was rising and life changes and new responsibilities were maximum. This turbulent combination may help to explain the excessive hazard of the 18-20-year-old

Ten Little Indians

Who is Next to Go? Murder Mystery Query

The Georgetown Little Theatre has come up with another "Who done it?" in the form of Ten Little Indians, by Agatha Christie. The situation takes place when eight assorted guests are invited for a weekend by a mysterious host. The guests have never met one another before, nor have they ever met their host, likewise the housekeeper, butler and boatman have never met their employer.

After everyone has met and gathered in the living room for cocktails, a voice comes out of the air accusing everyone present by name, including the servants, of murder. Not a murder that a conviction can be got in a court room, but a murder none the less.

WHO'S NEXT?
While they are exchanging data on themselves and on their host (who, by the way has sent word that he would not be arriving until the next day) the young playboy drinks a toast to crime and chokes to death. The reason - someone has freshened his drink with cyanide of potassium. Immediately after his death one of the 10 little Indian statuettes which are standing on the mantle, is found broken on the floor. One down - nine to go.

Then the excitement begins and never lets up until the final curtain. Who's the next to go? Will it be the nerve specialist, the judge, or Emily Brent the spinster, or perhaps the detective or General MacKenzie or maybe Vera Claythorne or Philip Lombard. Or will it be the servants, Mrs. Rogers who along with her husband Tom who are accused of murdering a previous employer.

FOUR NIGHTS
The cast includes: Derek Joynes, Sue Dunning, Tom VanAlphen, Joanne Grant, Des Nicholls, Dan Wagstaffe, John Horning, Chris Walker, Mary Goebel, Ron Hill, and Ian Lee. The Mouse Trap of last season went over so well it was decided to run Ten Little Indians for four nights instead of the usual three. The play will be presented at the Wrigglesworth Auditorium April 26, 27, 28, and 29th.
