

JUST LIKE JERICO

A section of Park Street was closed to traffic last week when part of the stone wall on the north side of Berwick Hall apartments came tumbling down. The moisture in the ground and the weight and age of the old wall contributed to the collapse of the 15 ft section. Georgetown Works Department cleaned up the rubble Friday afternoon.

END OF A LONG ROAD

Below—Probably the youngest walker to go all the way in Saturday's Miles for Millions trek was five year old Colin Hunter strolling along here with his dad Alistair Hunter on the last leg of the walk.
