

"Initiative '72" Qualifies for Youth Opportunities Grant

Initiative '72 is the name of the Georgetown project which was awarded $15,595 by the Federal Government's Opportunities for Youth program.

The program of summer recreation and entertainment is planned in co-operative workshops and community participation will be encouraged in interest groups.

Nineteen young people will be involved in two unique projects in Acton this summer, thanks to the acceptance of their proposals by the Opportunities for Youth program.

Establishment of a country market in Acton found favor with officials and the $7,760 requested was approved. The nine young people involved submitted a plan to establish an authentic farmers' market to sell farmers' goods from the surrounding area. One street would be closed off to form a square.

STREAM PROPOSAL

Another group of 10 young people proposed erosion control and park development and will receive $8,394. Their plan is to clean up the creek bed and control the erosion along the banks. They will undertake primary grading and brush clearing for park development beside the stream. An access road will also be built.

Other projects in this area will also be receiving grants.

At Rockwood, the Rockwood library and Wellington county library study will receive $1,680.

The three persons submitting the proposal will survey library services in the rural areas of Wellington county. They will also establish a temporary library in Rockwood using resources of the Guelph public library.

RAILWAY

A group of five in Nassagaweya township will receive $12,790 for their proposed Electric Railway Revival. They will extend and align the existing track of the Halton county railway, restore the electric railway museum, and conduct guided tours.

Eden Mills Theatre Incorporated receives $6,804 for 10 people to organize a workshop in basic theatre, technical skills and creative drama for children of that area. There will be weekly play productions with a major production at the end of the summer.

At Limehouse, $1,485 goes to four young people who intend to restore a lime kiln and clean other kilns in the old limestone factory. A history of the lime kiln industry will also be compiled.

DISTRICT GRANTS

At Erin a dozen young people called the Beaver Bustles receive $7,300 for a play and learn project in arts and crafts, drama, music and conservation for children in three groups, 4 to 6 years, 7 to 9, and 10 to 12. They also plan trips to museums, Science Centre and Ontario Place.

Supply Teachers Win

the meeting that the board's recognition of Mrs. Cox and her group doesn't necessarily imply trustees will feel obliged to negotiate salaries with them at any time.

MORE EFFECTIVE

The other recommendations accepted by the board include the adoption of co-operation and evaluation procedures designed to make supply teachers more effective, a provision for principals to administer their own substitute teacher budgets, and the dropping of a proposed teacher internship plan.

A major source of potential trouble, the plan was for the board to hire a number of qualified but unemployed teachers, presumably at lower rates than supply teachers, to be substitute teachers with the possibility of a later full-time appointment.

Singleton told the board members the plan has not worked very well in the past because demand for supply teachers may jump as much as 10 times from the lowest point in the year to the highest.

"We foresee grave difficulties with it," he said.

REJECTED

In adopting Armitage's amendment the trustees turned down an alternate suggestion from Singleton and the board's executive committee that supply teachers be paid at a reduced rate of $24 elementary and $30 secondary until they had been evaluated by two principals and an assistant superintendent and rated "very good."

Also rejected were alternate versions in which Singleton suggested a two-month moratorium on the lower rates at the beginning of the year until all the supply teachers had been evaluated, and Oakville trustee Len Crozier suggested all present supply teachers be presumed very good already and only new substitute teachers be subject to the two-rate system.

Bear & Cubs Unexpected Fishing Company

Bob McMaster, Bud Bishop, Gerry Inglis, Gilbert Preston and Lyle Armstrong spent the weekend in the Bancroft area on a fishing trip. Although the fish were not too sociable, Gill Preston did experience "a stone's throw away" encounter with a mother bear and her three cubs while they were all out for an early morning walk.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Campbell with children Jennifer and Scott spent the weekend with her mother Mrs. Mary Lawrence of Fenelon Falls.

Her many friends and neighbours are happy to hear that Mrs. Clayton Allen is able to be home again after spending some time in our local hospital.

Best wishes are extended to Mrs. Jean Norton who is a patient in the hospital.

Sincerest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Maureen Frank of the village upon the sudden passing of her brother, Bob Hepburn. Also to Mrs. John Hepburn of Hamilton and Mrs. Marian Heaver of Oakville, his mother and sister.
