

Herald Bowling Columnists Win Ontario Press Honours

A surprise announcement at Georgetown Bowl's annual Youth Bowling banquet overjoyed the crowd at the Canadian Legion on June 11. Mrs. Rose Radek, co-proprietor of Georgetown Bowl, announced that two Georgetown Youth Bowlers, Ruth Finlay and Karen Archibald, have been selected as the Ontario Provincial Y.B.C. "Press Secretaries of the Year".

When she asked them to come forward, two red-faced and literally shocked girls stood up to meet the applause of the crowd.

Peter Williams, also co-proprietor of Georgetown Bowl, presented Ruth and Karen each with a gift of appreciation and congratulations from all those at Georgetown Bowl.

The two girls were chosen by a special selection committee over other Press Secretaries representing bowling centres from all over Ontario.

WHITE COLUMN

To achieve this goal, Ruth and Karen write very impressive bowling reports about league and tournament news and results every week for the sports pages of The Georgetown Herald.

On the visual end of it, they actually had their own television sports show on Georgetown's cable television station T.V. 5. On this weekly show the girls read special reports on bowling, which they wrote as well as news about hockey, soccer and high school sports.

Each week, Ruth and Karen submit various reports to National Youth Bowling Council headquarters, informing them about the many different ways in which they promote bowling news around the area - whether it is by radio, television or newspaper.

Along with these reports, they send in countless newscippings on bowling from as many newspapers as they can find.

Ruth Finlay and Karen Archibald have made tremendous efforts to become the best in the province. Within the next month, the selection committee should announce the National Youth Bowling Council's "Press Secretaries of the Year". Ruth and Karen, in a joint effort, hope to bring this very special Canadian honour to Georgetown.

Golf Captain Low Scorer G.G.C.C. Day

Fifty women members and guests took part in a Guest Day at Georgetown Golf and Country Club last Tuesday. Prizes were presented by section captain Irene Brown and assistant captain Maise Thompson to the winners.

A dinner and a brief speech by ladies' section president Ida Walker concluded the day.

Members prizewinners were: Marjorie Jones for nine hole low gross; Irene Brown for 18 holes low gross; Maise Thompson, low net; Marg Beby, low puts; Shirley White, high puts; Ev Fountain, high mystery hole; and Davie Flebig, most honest.

Prizewinning guests were: Gloria Sinclair, nine hole low gross; Enid Cuthbert, low net; Elsie Overgard, low puts; Pat Yates, high puts; Marilyn Sunnucks, high mystery hole; Bev Breen, low mystery hole; and Ellen Johnson, most honest.

Royalettes Edge Glen

Single Run the Difference When Unbeaten Teams Meet

Halton County Intermediate Girls Softball League's two undefeated leaders met head on in Glen Williams Friday night and produced the season's best slug fest. It ended in a narrow 19-18 victory for Georgetown Royalettes over the Glen girls.

The see-saw battle was decided when Royalettes came up with three runs in the top of the final inning.

After the game, Royalettes manager Jack Handy called the Glen's ace hurler, Cindy Stafford, "one of the best girls' softball pitchers around."

"Our hats are off to the Glen who continue to produce good ball clubs," he said. "It was a privilege to play the game on such an excellent, well-kept diamond. Something the Glen can be proud of."

Lyn Scarboro paced the Royalette hitters with a home run, a triple and a double.

RE-SCHEDULE
The Glen and Georgetown

intermediate girls' teams were to have met again tomorrow night in town, but the re-match has been re-scheduled. Instead, Georgetown will meet a Mississauga team in an exhibition game.

Thursday, Royalettes bombed Hornby girls 22-2. The game's only home run was Diane Marshall's first for the Royalettes.

Ritchie Coach All-Star Game

All-stars selected from the seven other teams will take on Rockwood Seniors in the first Intercounty Fastball league all-star game in Rockwood park Thursday, July 6.

At a league meeting Bill Owens of Hespeler and Ron Ritchie of Glen Williams were appointed to coach the all-stars.

Two players for every position, plus three of the league's top pitchers will be selected. Each team will have a minimum of two representatives.

Rockwood has won the league championship two years in a row.
