

Georgetown Priest Took Party on Tour

For a Georgetown priest, vacation time means work, but a pleasant variance which, in some ways, ties in with his parochial duties.

Father Andre Simard, pastor of Sacre Coeur Church, began his summer job a few years ago, when he organized and conducted a bus tour to eastern Canada.

It was such a success that it has become a yearly event, and many of the original participants have booked ahead each year.

TOUR EAST
This summer it was another tour east, with Montreal the first stop, then on to the states of Vermont and Maine. They crossed from Bar Harbour by ferry to Yarmouth, N.S., travelled through the Annapolis Valley and spent two nights in Halifax, Antigonish, Sydney, two nights on Prince Edward Island, and visits to Ste. Anne de Beaupre were among other attractions for the party of 47.

Two local people were in the party. Mrs. Edward Carney, 36 Baylaw Crescent and Mrs. Aubrey Gray, 25 Confederation St. Glen Williams. Others were from the Hamilton area, Milton and Sudbury.

Some of the tour party want Father Andre to conduct a trip west next year, and this is a possibility.

McKane at U.S. Breeders' Convention

A. H. McKane of R.R.4 Georgetown is attending the 26th annual meeting of the National Association of Animal Breeders (NAAB), at Arlington Heights, Illinois, as representative of United Breeders.

The event has attracted "near record" attendance of over 500 livestock leaders from 37 states, Canada and several foreign countries, according to convention chairman Melvin L. Kenley. All have interests in artificial insemination.

Noting that the organization was entering its second quarter century with a solid record of success in improving the nation's dairy cattle, NAAB president W. Lewis Campbell of Frederick, Maryland, predicted "at least equally impressive progress" in beef cattle improvement in the near future.
