

Restored Car Club Buildings Gutted in Monday Blaze

The newly restored buildings housing the Random Car Club in Glen Williams were gutted by fire around 6 o'clock Monday morning. The workshop and club house on the side of the Credit River were completely burned out with the loss of carburetors, fuel pumps, a snowmobile, mag wheels, a fridge, stove, chestfreezers, and members' personal property. Don Fendley, club president one of the many who helped pull down the remaining walls after the fire, guessed at least $3,000 worth of property was lost. The snowmobile belonged to Dave Puckering. A total of $5,000 was the fire chief's estimate. The chief also said the fire probably started at least three hours before it was discovered.

Early morning fire completely destroyed Random Car Club's Glen Williams quarters.

Car Club members salvage what they can from ruins.

GT Motor Sport Club is organizing a car rally in which they hope to promote competition between clubs and organizations in Georgetown.

Though the event is open to all interested parties the emphasis is an inter-club competition with a trophy going to the highest placing club team.

Proceeds from the rally will be directed to a worthy cause chosen by them. The overall winners will also receive trophies, and other trophies may also be awarded.

The GT Motor Sport Club has set Sunday, November 12 as the date of the rally. A GTMSC press release stresses the competition is not a race but a test of timing, calculating and driving accuracy, set out so that at no time is it required that a competitor must violate any traffic laws. An entry is made up of two people, one driver and one navigator per car. There will be two classes, novice and experienced, and two different sets of instructions: 80 MILES. A GT Motor Sport Club spokesman said they hope to receive all completed entries by the Friday preceding the event, but last minute entries will be accepted up to the morning of the event. The rally will start from the A&P parking lot and cover a course of approximately 80 miles. Louw Broadfield, Lee Ursal or Nell Young may be contacted for more information.
