Greetings

Dear Friends,
Another year has almost gone, and I am once again using the services of The Herald to carry to you my sincere and prayerful good wishes for a Happy Christmas and New Year, and the best of future blessings.

As some of you know, I have been a reader of The Herald since 1941, and am impressed by the many changes, good and much less good, as the years have passed.

During the past year, I and my son Rev. Arthur Dayfoot have been much interested in the article, "Georgetown's History is contained in Street Names" (May 11th, 1972).

Another interesting item is the one entitled, "Dr. C. V. Williams has 50 years of Memories of Georgetown Practice." It is one of Mary Biehn's interesting articles called "Chatting."

Now I will close, wishing you all the best of blessings of Him whose birth we celebrate December 25th.

Sincerely,
(Mrs. C.B.) Catherine Dayfoot.

Mitchell-Strang Vows St. Elizabeth's Church

White mums and carnations decorated St. Elizabeth's Anglican Church, Burlington, for the marriage of Sheila Margaret Strang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Strang of Burlington, and Robert Gordon Mitchell, son of Mrs. James F. Murphy, 54 Rexway Drive, and the late Leslie Rowland Mitchell.

Wayne Smith, St. Catharines and Roy Bell, Hensall, brothers-in-law of the groom, were ushers.

Anke Tuinman, Burlington, was maid of honour; Colleen Stothers, Burlington and the groom's sister, Leslie Mitchell, Georgetown were bridesmaids; and Laura Alford, Burlington, the bride's niece, was flower girl.

Miss Tuinman wore an A-line princess style dress of plum pompador with lace ruffle and mauve and plum flower braid. Bridesmaids' gowns were similarly styled, in lavender, and the flower girl's in pink. Senior attendants carried baskets of plum and lavender mums and carnations, with sprigs of dried flowers. The flower girl carried a nosegay of pink roses, carnations and baby's breath.
