

Retirement Gifts Honour Fire Vets

Mayor Bill Smith, second from left, with three retiring firemen, Walter Richardson, left, Wilfred Breen, and Clarence Spence, right. Davidson have also retired.

Five volunteer firemen, three of them with a total of 67 years' service to the municipality, were honoured when they retired from the fire department Sunday.

Handsome clocks, with their names and years of service engraved were presented to them by Mayor Wm. R. Smith.

The mayor mentioned regional government, expected to be announced later this month, and said that, whatever the future might bring in municipal administration, he is sure the department will continue to play an important role in community life.

Clarence Spence, with 32 years' service; Walter Richardson, 31; Wilfred Breen, 24; William Hillier, 10, and Jack Davidson, 6, were those being honoured.

TRIBUTE TO TEAM

An election chose the three senior department officials - Gordon Inglis, chairman; Harry Brandford, secretary; and Bud Hyde, treasurer.

And tribute was paid to a firemen's team awarded all-Ontario honours last year - Tom Massena, Gordon Inglis, Doug Harley and Bud Hyde.

Jack Cunningham was meeting chairman and called on several guests to speak.

These included federal M.P. Terry O'Connor, provincial M.P. Hon. Jim Snow; Esquousing reeve Tom Hill; Georgetown reeve and deputy, Ric Morrow and Ernest Sykes; two new Georgetown councillors, Michael Armstrong and Hoy Booth; and John T. Armstrong; and Georgetown's new fire chief Ken Bukema.

There was a minute's silence for a past fire chief, Robert Bonfield, whose death occurred recently, and for the late Canadian and Ontario prime ministers, L. B. Pearson and George Drew.

Following the business meeting, firemen and guests adjourned to the clubroom for a roast beef buffet and social time.
