Just 51 of 139 Impounded Dogs Claimed

One hundred and fifty-five dogs were picked up in the Georgetown area in 1972. Of that number 16 were immediately returned to their owners, 139 were taken to the shelter where 51 were claimed. There were 61 dogs destroyed humanely during last year. One hundred cats were also impounded. The Ontario Humane Society on Mavis Road, in Cooksville sends a truck to Georgetown every day. The truck is equipped with a radio and is on call 24 hours, besides its regular run.

The service made 131 miscellaneous calls, 73 rescue missions, and answered 723 calls for assistance last year.

Eamonn de Valera was the first president of the Irish Republic.

18 Added Through Recruiting Drive

A Company of the Lorne Scouts last Thursday evening recruited 11 cadets and four new members to the militia. This increases the militia force of Georgetown-based Company to 28.

The young cadets are 13 and 14 years of age, and will receive instruction in stripping and assembling the F.M.C. rifle, under Corporal Stewart Dalziel. Drill exercises will be hampered by the lack of recruits.

New militia recruits will go to Base Borden February 8, for instruction in firing, throwing grenades, and regular force training. Captain Doug Westlake says that recruits are trained for the purpose of strengthening the militia and enabling young men to think of a career in the armed forces.

Dominion Seed House is Growing

Dominion Seed House is making a 2,000 square foot expansion to their Order Shipping Dept. Pinares Vannatter, the company administrator says it is to accommodate increased business.

The expansion will cost $22,000. The order Shipping Dept. is where the catalogue orders are filled and shipped.

Dominion Seed House sells mail order seeds, nursery stock, and garden equipment to gardeners across the country. A yearly catalogue is issued.

O'Connor Says Prices Committee May Create Panic Price Increases

FROM THE OTTAWA BUREAU OF THE HERALD

Royal commissions and investigative committees have done little to solve Canadian problems and, in some instances, have contributed to inflation. Terry O'Connor (P.C.-Halton) argued in the Commons last week.

Making his maiden speech during debate on establishment of a committee to investigate food prices, Mr. O'Connor said the existence of such committees may tend to create panic price increases in anticipation of coming controls. He said his party was not optimistic that the grudging acknowledgment by the government of the inflation problem would solve anything. However, in an effort to get some beneficial results the Conservatives had moved amendments to eliminate Senate representation, to limit the sitting time of the committee and to restrict committee travel and the use of outside support staff.

"By outside support staff we may well substitute the words, defeated Liberal candidates," Mr. O'Connor commented.

MUST BE AWARE

The committee must listen to the economic advice that was given to it and be prepared to recommend strong and practical measures to combat high prices which were related to the state of the entire economy.

The government must already be painfully aware that it could not fight rising food prices by deliberately encouraging unemployment and they must also be aware that voluntary restraints by one side of the labor-management combination would not be effective.

Mr. O'Connor said the prices review board suggested by the New Democrats was not the answer as it would only result in a proliferation of other boards and government agencies. The solutions must be applied equally throughout society so that no geographic or economic sector bears the burden more than any other. The solutions lay either in a short term program of price and income controls or in income tax provisions which eliminated the effect of inflation on the individual consumer.

"The silver lining in this grey cloud is the real possibility that by the time the committee reports Canada will have a new government, one with ideas and initiative which responds positively to the needs of this country," Mr. O'Connor concluded.

WOULD STOP UP NORMANDY ACCESS

Cars using an access to Normandy Boulevard from a church parking lot, create a nuisance on that street, and residents have complained of this to council.

Town council will ask Maple Ave. Baptist Church to block the rear of their parking lot, so it cannot be used by the public.
