

Georgetown's C company of the Lorne Scots furnished members to attend a military expedition to Base Borden, organized by Oakville's A company. Three of the members taking part are seen preparing their gear outside the Georgetown armoury Friday evening before boarding a chartered bus for the base.

Corporal Stewart Dalziel attempts to subdue private Brian Nuttal in hand to hand combat, a visual lecture on how one takes a prisoner. The taking of prisoners in war games was an integral part of the manoeuvre at Base Borden.

Pipe Band Bags Trophy Fourth Straight Year

By RALPH HAWES
Having just finished a lazy, relaxing week's vacation, we should feel full of vim and vigor, ready to dash off columns of legion happenings, but it seems activity legion-wise is at a low ebb just now. Saturday, April 14 saw all roads in District "B" leading to Woodstock for the District "B" spring convention. Weather was perfect and perhaps did much to influence members to make an effort to attend, for it was a good convention, well represented by the over 60 branches within the district. As Zone B7 commander elect, we attended the district council meeting, on Saturday, which we found most enlightening and educational. Many resolutions were presented to council to be presented at the general meeting on Sunday. The highlight of the weekend was the elections. There were seven contestants for the office of District "B" commander. After the dust had settled, Zone B7's Bill Shields from Oakville became the new commander. Bill Hodson returned as District Chairman, as was Don Drinkwater his vice-chairman. With the district and zone election over, branches in the district will be busy with their own elections which should be completed by the end of May.

failed to mention that once again Branch 120's Pipe Band were the winners of the District trophy on Sunday. This, we believe, is the fourth time in succession that the Pipers from Georgetown have returned with the trophy.
BRANCH HITS
Back at the branch, last week's dart shooters won themselves chickens. Those whose darts hit the right numbers were K. Pearson, J. Ferguson, A. Hills, B. Mackinnon, L. Nicholson, B. Carr, R. Lincoln and J. Fry. Number seven car club draw winners: K. Davidson, M. Webster, M. Hunter, D. Chamberlain, K. DeRose and G. Haarmeyer.

Man and Wife Excell In Driving Skill Test

Neil Young and his wife Mary Lou led the field in the Georgetown Motor Sports Club driving skill test, April 15.

The test of skill around various markers was held in the A&P parking lot. Neil Young came first in two classes of competition while Mary Lou was the woman having the highest fast class score.

The cars were divided into classes on the basis of their potential, covering such items as weight, length, wheelbase, number of cylinders and carburetors, type of engine and type of tires. Penalty points were added for touching or moving of markers.

Here are the complete results listing position, driver, penalty points, and vehicle.
