How Many Anglers
 Can Boast Catching
 A Loon or a Beaver?

Many fish stories will be heard by the time this column is read. The season officially opened last Friday at midnight. The Credit River at Streetville has its share of good sized rainbow trout. Many in the two to 5 pound size were seen jumping at the dam there, approximately two weeks ago. Coho salmon were not seen at that time, but they should be in the area now.

SPECKLED TROUT
 Speckled trout were seen jumping for flies recently in some of the small streams. Warm weather can cause a good fly hatch in a very short time. Small brown, grey, and black imitations are very productive in the dry fly type, size 12 is very popular.

THE INTRUDER
 Mr. Ervin McPherson of Georgetown visited his sister Mrs. Jim Menary of Orangeville recently, and this is the fantastic story he brought back.

NYMPHS
 Sometimes trout will be noticed splashing and jumping, but only the odd one can be taken on a dry fly or a wet fly that is skittered over the stream. Usually they are feeding on nymphs when this happens.

FABULOUS FIVE
 Stephanie Cox pumped in a 703 triple and a 316 single game. Sandy Bratkin shot 668 with a 290 single. Warren Farrow tossed 622 with a 240 solo. A 600 triple and 205 single were bowled by Brenda Moore. Sylvia Heister rolled 589 and a 249 single.
