

MAKING THE POINT WITH BODY ENGLISH

Dick Willis demonstrates pitching technique, using a lot of body English, as he explains the rules of baseball to coaches, umpires and players at the Georgetown Baseball Association clinic, Friday May 4, in Holy Cross gym. Mr. Willis played semi-pro ball in the United States, and for 25 years was an umpire in professional and amateur ball. Here he demonstrates how to prevent pitching "balks."

Association range from eight to 20 with the exception of T-Ball where boys born in 1967 are welcome.

About 75 people attended an umpires clinic in Holy Cross auditorium Friday conducted by Dick Willis. This is the second year that the Association has concentrated on umpire training.

Bruce Street and Dick Willis are still in the process of assembling an umpire corps for the 1973 season.

Tyke Ball Team Looks Promising In Two Practices

Some first year boys showed some good moves and hitting power when Georgetown's Tyke all-stars held a pre-season intra-squad baseball game. It was the second tryout of the year for the Tyke all-stars who started practicing April 30.

Glenn Cunningham, Jamie South and Gary Stockfish were three newcomers showing good form. The team will include five returnees from last season, Mike Hartley, Brian Ellis, Dwayne Hatcher, Mike Makovnyk and Danny Reynolds.

Manager Ron Squigna is anxious to hear from any eligible players who would like to earn a spot on the club.
