Tapping Bill Codifying Human Rights: O'Connor

FROM THE OTTAWA BUREAU OF THE HERALD

OTTAWA—The government's bill on wire tapping should be regarded as a codification of a fundamental human right, the protection of the individual and his freedom from interference with his private affairs, Terry O'Connor (PC-Honk) told the Commons this week.

Invasion of the personal privacy of the individual without his knowledge or consent should be subject to stringent legislation, but as the law now stands, such practice is not illegal and not even subject to civil action in eight of the provinces, Mr. O'Connor said.

He warned that in proposing such legislation the government must resolve the age-old and perhaps insoluble conundrum which faces the law in such matters: the conflict which results when interests of the individual are pitted in opposition to the interests of society as a whole.

Mr. O'Connor said the initial infringement of the state into the individual's private communications was a decision of the highest political order and should be made only by a politician, after which it may be the subject of public scrutiny and criticism in the public forum of a legislature or parliament. The attorney general should not be permitted to delegate his authority to permit wire tapping or, if he were, such delegation should be severely limited. The proposed bill permitted the delegation of the function by the attorney general to as many agents as he chooses.

"If we recognize that the individual's right to privacy can only be interfered with in the event of public necessity where harm to the public will possibly follow without its use, then someone must be directly responsible for insuring that individual rights are protected. The buck must stop somewhere. In my opinion it should be with the attorney general or solicitor general alone", Mr. O'Connor said.

Highway Bridge Was Link With Village's Past

It was with a feeling of sadness that many in the district saw the old iron bridge over the Credit River by the Riviera disappear this past week. There are few links with the past history of the village left and the old bridge, only used as a pathway for many years, was one of them.

It is good to know that the limestone blocks abutting the old bridge will be carefully removed and used as ornamentation on the new 100 foot bridge to be constructed on Highway 7 soon, a small part of the past history of the village kept in this changing scene. The old bridge erected in 1899 will be melted down for scrap.

The present bridge in use now was built in 1923 and the highway curved around the flourishing flour and grist mills which were burned to the ground in January 1930. Hurricane Hazel in October 1954 demolished what was left. There is nothing left today to show where the historic water-powered mill stood.

Construction crews are busy preparing the new road for the new bridge which will eliminate the curves of the highway. Traffic will then be able to travel through the village at a higher speed.

Perhaps this will be progress for the motorist but not for the citizens who live here.

Unit Two of Norval United Church Women held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening, May 10, at the home of Mrs. Lynda Howse, with Mrs. Phyllis Moffatt in the chair.

The main item of business was planning the desserts and cole slaw for the chicken barbecue to be held at Maple Lodge Farms on Saturday, June 23.

It was decided to print more copies of the cook book as all copies had been sold.

Mrs. Ella Laidlaw gave the devotional after which Mrs. Norine Van Leeuwen showed pictures and told about their recent trip through the United States to the Gulf of Mexico on a Homes and Gardens tour.

Mrs. Nellie Shea assisted her daughter, Mrs. Howse, in serving lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

Mr. Murray Laird has returned home from Georgetown and District Memorial hospital where he spent about 10 days for tests. Get well wishes are extended to him.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Supporters of the Halton County Board of Education:

We have examined the Balance Sheet of the Halton County Board of Education as at December 31, 1972 and the Statements of Revenue Fund-Expenditure, and Source and Application of Capital Funds for the year then ended. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion these Financial Statements present fairly the financial position of the Board as at December 31, 1972 and the results of its operations and the source and application of its capital funds for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario School Boards applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.
