Community Study is Aid In Y Service Programs

by G. TOWNE
Last summer the members of the Board of Directors of the Georgetown Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. talked about our rapidly changing town with its explosive growth and changing quality of life. They wondered whether the "Y" was still fulfilling important needs.

This summer the Board has a pretty good idea what's happening. This summer they have the results of a community study that grew out of last year's talks.

"Rather than speculating," explained Dr. Boyd Hoddinott, chairman of the "Y" committee formed to conduct the study, "We elected to go out in the community and find facts." Working closely with the National Y.M.C.A., the committee drew up a loosely structured questionnaire designed to find out good and bad points of Georgetown, where help is needed and most important, how the "Y" can help improve the quality of life in Georgetown.

SELECT GROUP
"We decided to interview a select group of active people who are aware of the problems in Georgetown," reported Dr. Hoddinott. "Marg Jacques, Marilyn Sejeantson and myself drew up a list which included a public health nurse, the youth officer, municipal politicians, teachers, clergy, representatives from the French-speaking community, librarian, retired banker and other Community-involved people."

In the end, thirty-four people were to be interviewed and thirteen Board members were selected to do the interviewing. The Board members were instructed in the art of in-depth probing and the stage was set.

"The results came in on the backs of envelopes, on scraps of paper and mixed in with shopping lists. The interviewees were requested not to make their note-taking too obvious, and they complied," Dr. Hoddinott continued. "There was excellent and surprising information in that seeming scrap heap."

Each scrap was studied carefully and a pattern emerged which has been reported to the Board.

STUDY RESULTS
"It's premature to discuss the results," said Mrs. Anne Kerr, in charge of the Y's Publicity and spokesman for the Board members. "We're spending the summer studying the results. This fall we've planned a seminar to discuss the report and to set long- and short-term goals for the "Y" based on town needs."

Mrs. Kerr and Dr. Hoddinott did mention some of the broader findings of the survey: "Perhaps one of the bigger surprises was the large number of people who know almost nothing about the Georgetown "Y," said Mrs. Kerr. This problem in communications appears to be shared by other groups in town and the report recommends solving it by some sort of combined action.

These people interviewed who knew about the Georgetown "Y" praised it for its flexibility. They approved of the "Y's" policy of setting up a programme, and if the programme proves popular and financially successful, encouraging it to be self-sufficient. It was felt that the town still needs this type of innovative body.

MANY NEEDS
Many people felt the flexible "Y" should be looking into the social as well as the physical needs of the town. The "Y" should be preparing children to adapt to increased leisure by self-motivation and not just training for a sport.

The senior citizen, the handicapped, the newcomer, were all mentioned as people who could be helped by "Y" programmes not necessarily physically-oriented. The board will study the suggestions and recommendations resulting from the survey and in the fall, draw up their line of action. Those people presently serving on the Board of Directors of the Georgetown Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. are: Mrs. Peggy Balkind, Mrs. Lorene Barton, Mrs. Kay Bigg, Doug Brock, Gary Brown, Mrs. Doreen Burt, Bob Clipsham, Al Dunn, Mrs. Dianne Featherstone, Mrs. Mildred Ford, Bill French, Mrs. Marg Hillier, Dr. Boyd Hoddinott, Mrs. Ann Kerr, Logan MacDonald, George Michm, Mrs. Marilyn Milton, Mrs. Sandra Morrow, Wes Penner, Mrs. Marg Ridley and Mrs. Marilyn Sejeantson.

Big Winner In Kin Draw

Barry Timleck, 27 Park St., was $3,000 winner at Kin Casino, Saturday, at the arena. The draw was made at 12.30 a.m. climaxing a night of roulette, crown and anchor, dancing, and eating, attended by more than 700 persons.

Six other winners of draw prizes were Ken Milne, Garth Perkins, Carol Casselman, Ted Barnes, Jack Pieterse, all of Georgetown, and Mrs. A. Johnson, of Burlington.

The consolation prizes were portable television sets and air conditioners. It was a highly successful night, according to incoming club president Fred Curtis, who praised all members of the Kinsmen Club for their efforts. Mr. Curtis said it was too early to say how much money was raised.

Boss Hillier and the Rhythm Boys kept the dance floor crowded throughout the evening.

ERIN—An order for 18,000 Bahamian flags was recently filled by Kennedy's Specialties, an Erin firm which in 26 years has grown to become one of the largest employers in the village and one of the most versatile textile specialty concerns in Canada. The proprietor is Bob Dickson and the firm employs 34 workers.

OAKVILLE—Oakville has a chance to buy the now defunct Odeon Theatre and transform it into a live community theatre, but at least one town official is less than enthralled with the idea. Toronto sources confirm the town is considering their offer to sell the 6,600 square foot building on Lakeshore Road for $235,000. The package includes 670 cushioned seats, an air conditioner, movie projector, office equipment, broadloom, washrooms, ticket office, and apparently dressing and rehearsal rooms.

ACTON—Acton Parks Board accepted the resignation of assistant parks and arena manager, Don (Bucky) Price at the June meeting, Thursday, and instructed secretary Doris Townsley to write him a letter of thanks for his services over the years. Mr. Price has accepted a new position as arena manager at Southampton. "We lost a heck of a good man," opined parks and arena manager Harold Townsley. The board has hired Michael Marcoux to replace Mr. Price.

MILTON—Milton's historic Bruce Street school will be demolished and the site prepared for the town's first central library building, members of Milton Council concluded last week. E. W. Foster at a meeting the previous Friday, between citizens interested in preserving the school, councillors and engineers revealed the condition of the building. He noted the citizens group was unable to achieve any concrete proposal between the Friday and Monday meetings.

ORANGEVILLE—Orangeville has been denied the right to open a sanitary land fill site in East Garafraxa township. This was stated in a ruling handed down by the Ontario Municipal Board two weeks ago. The decision said the board does find some security in the knowledge that the site, if it were allowed, may be designed to operate in a proper manner, but has concluded the use is not compatible with surrounding existing uses, particularly in such close proximity to what might be termed hazardous lands to the north.

BRAMBLEA—Chinguacousy township's massive development plan for 6,400 acres in Mayfield has been turned down by the province. General committee was told last week that a letter from Minister of Intergovernmental Affairs John White said the minister could not give approval to the plan at the present time. The plan would have generated a population of 125,000 in 31,000 homes in an area north of Bramblea and east of Heart Lake. Called official plan amendment 53, it had been sent down to the ministry for approval little more than a month ago.
