

AN OPPORTUNITIES for youth group that started last year to restore old cemeteries has received another grant from the federal government, $11,000, to continue the program. The group is restoring cemeteries in Peel County, but last Monday, it crossed the county line into Halton, and worked on a portion of the Norval Cemetery. As well as clearing the brush, there is the tricky business of resurrecting head stones. Above, below, there are 10 students involved in the project, all from Peel County. It's exhausting work in the hot sun and while a tomb stone doesn't offer much shade, it does offer some comfort for a couple of weary workers. (Herald Photos)

Teen Recreation Program Entering Its Third Year

Teen Recreation Program now in its third year is under way with the basic headquarters situated at the high school, most evenings and the Georgetown Recreation office at Cedarvale most afternoons.

Leaders Isabel Lieder and Tom Ewles are trying to initiate programs to attract and involve students between the ages of 13 and 19 years.

The main objective of the program in past years was to allow students the use of the high school and its facilities during the summer months. Some of these activities were sports, art classes, folk club, dances, and the like. Most of these programs are being run this year with one major change.

Instead of students going to the high school year-round, an attempt is made to involve more of the community and people such as Cedarvale, the park, Kay's, etc.

"We are also interested in starting projects and clubs that will carry on throughout the year, not just the summer. One of these clubs is the Teen Outdoor and Bicycle Club which meets every Wednesday night at 7:30 at Cedarvale. This club will involve hiking, camping, bicycling etc. One objective of the club is the building of bicycle trails along the Credit from Hungry Hollow to Cedarvale," it was reported.

Other groups it is hoped to motivate are drama, arts and crafts and a folk club.

The high school program will be commencing July 9 from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m., Mondays to Friday. There will be regular activities in the gym, such as basketball, volleyball and badminton.

Any teens who wish to reserve a gym for certain nights for certain activities will be able to do so through the recreation department. Anyone seeking further information about any of the above programs or who has suggestions should call the Georgetown Recreation Department at 877-5231.

76 Students In Program

Project SWEEP began June 25. This year 76 students have been hired. Doug Hamilton is senior supervisor in charge of the program.

There are eight technical advisers. These include Edith Murdoch and Brian Cripps in public relations, Karen McEachern, Bob Edmondson and Alex Sorenson as biologists. Karen Schilling has been hired as an architect for the summer.

Three secretaries have also been hired by SWEEP for the summer. These include Anne McKelvie, Marion Howard and Susan Shepherd.

The remainder of the students are divided into crews. Each crew is headed by a foreman. These are Tom Wildeboer in charge of a crew working at Mainsberg Wildlife Centre, John Hatherley with the construction crew, Dave Pethick in charge of the forestry crew, Ken Krush with the maintenance and water control structures crew, Tom Dixon in charge of the archaeological excavation crew at Crawford Lake, Nick Morgunov in charge of the Kelson crew and Heike Langlois in charge of the park patrol and maintenance crew.

These students will be working on various projects under the direction of the Conservation Authority. Some of the projects include doing an Archaeological Study of a Huron Indian Village believed to be about 600 years old, and the building of a Sugar Shanty.

An 80-foot wall along the edge of the Escarpment of Mount Nemo, will also be built by SWEEP students this summer.

EHV Lines Haul Power

In order to meet southern Ontario's ever growing demands for electric power, Ontario Hydro has proposed the construction of several high voltage transmission lines in the area stretching from Middleport (south of Hamilton) to the Pickering-Oshawa area. At maximum, three 500 KV lines are required with additional space for two 230 KV lines alongside. In all, a right-of-way of 610 feet may be needed.

In addition to the Middleport-Pickering corridor, north-south 500 KV cross connections are also required to link the system to generating plants outside the region and to sub-stations near the built-up urban areas along Lake Ontario.

All lines are to be overhead. Information presented during the Solandt Commission hearings last fall indicated that the technology required to place lines underground was not yet adequately developed for use in this major line in the Hydro system.

The alternative alignments present here represent the culmination of environmental studies conducted in an open planning context, with the object of selecting a minimum environmental impact route for the Hydro corridors.

Information on a wide variety of environmental topics was inventoried and mapped, then analyzed following the results of a questionnaire designed to secure public opinion on the most important environmental features to be avoided.

The alternatives shown were selected to meet different electrical system possibilities as prepared by Hydro's engineers. Any basic routing is feasible, provided the line joins Middleport to Pickering and allows for three connecting lines from the north.

A series of meetings are being held so that the public, local governments and provincial agencies can indicate which route is preferable. Following these meetings, time is also provided for written submissions up to July 20. Based on the results of these meetings and submissions a recommendation will be made to the Solandt Commission as to the best routes for the corridors.
