

THE DISTRICT AT A GLANCE

ACTON—An Acton resident says he is wearing a gauze mask to insulate his nostrils from a rancid odor given off by Beardmore and Company Ltd. tannery, but company officials say they haven't been deluged with complaints about the odor. Realtor Jack Holmes, who admits he has a weak stomach, says the smell makes him sick. "I just about lost my stomach, Monday," he said. He added he had no choice but to wear the mask or lose his supper. A number of other residents shared Mr. Holmes' distress.

OAKVILLE—A bright, slow-moving object hovered over Oakville last week and a local woman and a teenage girl are wondering what they saw. "We saw it clearly enough to know it wasn't a plane," said Mrs. Vicki McTavish of 94 Snelgrove Cres. She added that the unidentified flying object did not have a definite shape, but was "sort of oval." Fiona Rintoulle, 15, a neighbor on Snelgrove Crescent, witnessed the strange object as well. Her description matched her companion's, but according to Oakville police no other reports were made.

ORANGEVILLE—The possibility of sharing canine patrols between Orangeville and Caledon township were discussed at a recent township council meeting. Mayor Vic Large met with the township council to discuss the arrangements and costs of such an arrangement. "We would like to enter into a mutual agreement on the sharing of controls and patrols," Mayor Large said. "We would pay part of the costs and services," he said. At present the town has an agreement with the Academy for Dogs for patrols and emergency calls and is paying on a per-call basis.

MILTON—Construction on a $1,140,000 industrial warehouse, distribution centre and office for Consumers Glass Co. has started on an 88 acre site in the north end of Milton. The company, with a large manufacturing plant in Toronto, plans a warehouse here that will contain 257,202 square feet of floor area and will cover about six acres of ground. The building is to be 396 feet by 650 feet, one storey in height, with fire walls separating it into three separate sections. An office, approximately 20 by 40 feet, will be provided but the remainder of the floor area will be devoted to warehousing and shopping facilities.

BRAMPTON—Barricades were placed across both vehicular entrances to Gage Park last week and Robert Reid, director of parks and recreation has ordered signs painted and erected prohibiting all motorized vehicles in the park. The action was taken following passage of a town council resolution last week approving total prohibition of vehicles in the park pending a staff report of the legality of closing off two rights-of-way granted in perpetuity many years ago when the park area was deeded to the municipality. Council took the action following two accidents in the park involving motor vehicles.

MISSISSAUGA—A request by the Ontario School Trustees' Council asking the Peel County Board of Education to support a private member's bill in the house of commons was approved by the board last week. The trustees' council is asking Ontario School Boards to support bill C-143, which has to do with the broadcasting act. According to the council the bill will give school boards "a free hand, without cost, in the use of educational material produced or leased by the CBC."

BRAMBLETON—Chinguacousy Township's summer festival is all set to go from Aug. 13 to Sept. 1, featuring the Elizabethan Players from Newport, Wales. Box office is already open. The group will perform four plays, including Shakespeare's Hamlet and Harold Pinter's Caretaker. The performances will be held in 475-seat Lester B. Pearson Theatre for the Performing Arts in the Chinguacousy civic centre. The township estimates that potential audience during the festival will be between 15,000 and 20,000. The festival will have a give-away souvenir program to mark the dedication of the theatre to the late Mr. Pearson. The program will also involve complete coverage of plays and players taking part in the festival.

Water Lawns For Lush Look

With hot dry weather, lawns lose their bright spring green and begin to turn brown. Regular and thorough watering will help keep your lawn green and healthy during the summer months, says John Hughes, a horticultural specialist with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

A thorough soaking about once a week is usually enough to keep the lawn growing well. Thorough watering allows the water to penetrate the soil and encourages development of a deep healthy root system. With only light sprinkling, the root system is shallow and more susceptible to injury, particularly during hot dry weather. Lawns should be watered at the first sign of wilt, applying enough water to soak the soil without puddling on the surface. Apply about 1 inch of water each week if there is no rain. It is best to water the lawn in the early morning or evening. More of the water will reach the roots, since there is less evaporation. Use a sprinkler for even coverage over a large area of the lawn. The amount of water applied can be easily measured by setting a shallow pan in the area of the sprinkler and checking it for the required depth.

Sweet Dixieland Sound Will Bounce Off Books

Jazz at Georgetown Public Library is welcome news for jazz buffs in town. Recorded jazz at the library is commonplace, but a live group of celebrated jazz artists is unusual.

The Steel City Six, a Hamilton group as its name implies, will hold forth at the library Aug. 9 in a free jazz concert.

The six musicians, Lloyd Peach on clarinet and alto sax; Al Ludlow, on trombone; Al Jackson, on trumpet; Vic Hill at piano; Ken Westwood on bass, and Chuck Woods on drums, play many styles of jazz inspired by groups from the turn of the century.

The program, entitled "Many Faces of Jazz" is taken from the repertoire of jazz groups since its birth at the beginning of the century, with a brief commentary on the evolution of jazz through Dixieland, swing, pop, rock, progressive jazz, and "just jazz."

This concert is one of a series, sponsored by South Central Regional Library System, of which Georgetown library is a member.

The group has been presenting jazz programs at schools in Burlington and Oakville, and are being considered for a series of school concerts co-sponsored by the Hamilton Musicians' Guild and the Halton County Board of Education.

The new Construction Safety Act

It makes a difference to you

Effective August 1st., Bill 127, The Construction Safety Act, 1973 places the responsibility for safety in the construction industry firmly where it belongs... on the whole construction industry. Not only on project constructors but also on sub-contractors, foremen and the workmen themselves.

Any of these, if convicted of an offence against the Act or its Regulations, is liable to a fine of up to $10,000 and imprisonment of up to 12 months. That's pretty tough, but it's in everyone's interest. Employers, employees and, not least, their families, all of whom stand to benefit from accident prevention.

The new Bill also provides the following major advantages.

It consolidates the three existing statutes in the field into an all-encompassing Act that can be more effectively administered.

It makes the Ontario Ministry of Labour primarily responsible for safety inspections, removing the obligation to appoint municipal inspectors and establishing basic standards throughout the Province.

And its improved regulations cover more situations than the old legislation, thereby increasing protective measures.

Everyone connected with construction has a vital stake in safety. Bill 127 will give that safety a better chance. The Ministry of Labour offices in your area have the details. Make sure you know where you stand after August 1st.
