

Over 1800 High Schoolers Set New Attendance Record

by LARRY BROADFIELD AND LARRY BUSHEY

Over 1800 students flooded Georgetown District High School Wednesday, setting a new record for the number of high school students in Georgetown. Grade nine students were lost in the maze of GDHS's halls and the hallways were jammed with people in many congested areas. Classes were attended for the first times and the scourge of students, homework, began for another year.

Within three days, football practice began and plans started to be made for many coming school events. Now is the best time to become involved in after school extracurricular activities and sports.

This column has had a great increase in staff since our meeting last Monday. Next week we will become a true team effort-Georgetown high's news team!

DRAMA WORKSHOP

A group that has been increasingly in the news lately is the Georgetown Little Theatre. You have probably heard that the group has been awarded a Theatre Ontario training grant. This grant, from the Ontario Arts Council, has allowed Georgetown Little Theatre to employ a professional director for its season's first play Present Laughter by Noel Coward.

The director's name is Dan Walsh and already he is getting things underway with rehearsals for the play. Mr. Walsh is also running theatre workshops every Sunday afternoon. These workshops will be on almost every aspect of theatre and are open to everyone. So if you have a special interest in theatre, acting, backstage work or if you just want to find out what's going on come on out to Cedarvale next Sunday and meet Dan Walsh.

GLT has invited everyone in Georgetown to attend the workshops. This includes students from the high school and particularly theatre arts students. If you would like to become a member of Georgetown Little Theatre or, if you would like more information about the workshops, please contact Larry Bushey or Larry Broadfield or any other GLT member.

NOT FOR JOURNALISTS ONLY

High School Insights has many more staff members than last year, and in fact, more than last week. Another thing that the GDHS news team is very proud about, and would like to thank Mr. MacMenemy and Mr. Todd for, is the High School Insights typewriter.

The lack of this little business tool proved a hindrance last year. Our new staff will include one or more typists and proofreaders as well as reporters and photographers. If you wish to join your high school's news team but aren't particularly interested in writing articles remember there is room for typists, photographers, TV crew, and reporters. If you are interested contact this column's editors or attend an HSI meeting.

BEFORE-This was the scene in the Georgetown high school hallway moments before it was invaded by crowds of students on the first day of school.

AFTER-This was the scene later the same morning as more than 1,800 students attended the first day. Chaos ruled during class changes.

MR. AND MRS. CLIVE RICHTER

Linda McCartney, Clive Richter Exchange Rings, Wedding Vows

A beautiful sunny day prevailed for the wedding of Linda Anne McCartney and Clive Richter, who were married in St. John's United Church, Georgetown, recently. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold T. Martin.

John Taylor of Acton was organist. Mrs. Sandra Greig of Georgetown was soloist and sang, 'We've Only Just Begun, and You'll Never Walk Alone.'

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denis E. McCartney. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Richter of Bramalea.

The bride wore a long, sleeveless white gown of chiffon over satin, and little white daisies with pink centres. Her headpiece had lilies-of-the-valley and baby's breath with little pink bows, and the veil was shoulder-length and also had daisies to match her gown. Her bouquet was a cross with pink roses, baby's breath and gardenias.

The groom wore a black tuxedo and blue and white frilly shirt. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore long pink gowns of the same material as the bride's and pink, picture hats to match.

They carried baskets of pink roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

The flowergirl wore a long white gown similar to the bride's and a white picture hat with pink ribbon to match her gown. Her flower basket was the same as the bridesmaids.

The ushers wore black tuxedos with pink and white frilly shirts.

The mother of the bride wore a long gown of mauve and blue floral print with matching mauve picture hat. Her corsage was a white and mauve orchid.

Her corsage was a yellow and white orchid.

The bride's grandmothers were guests of honor. Mrs. Mildred Bastedo wore a long gown of mint green and a corsage of white gardenias and Mrs. Heda McCartney wore a long blue gown and also a corsage of white gardenias.

The maid of honor was Nina Phillips. The bridesmaids were sisters Kim and Cindy McCartney, Charmaine Richter, sister of the groom, and Cheryl Giesert.

The flowergirl was the bride's cousin Lisa Bastedo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bastedo of Brampton. The groomsmen were Derrick Placeline of Montreal.

The ushers were Richard McCartney brother of the bride, Doug Shaw, John Halm and Mike Hogan all of Brampton. Mr. and Mrs. Clive Richter are making their new home in Georgetown.
