Increase In Rivalry Among School Houses

by LARRY BROADFIELD AND LARRY BUSHEY

Even though we are well into October, a typically newless month, there are still great things happening in Georgetown high.

While preparing the articles for the field day, there was quite a controversy in the High School Insights office. Articles written by House C students were edited by House A students and typed by our House B typist. Needless to say, if you think you are getting a biased report, you are.

FIELD DAY
Last week there were many pictures of the Georgetown Fall Fair covering the pages of this newspaper. There were in fact, so many pictures that it was not possible for High School Insights to provide complete coverage of the high school's field day. Today, however, we bring you a full report complete with results from most of the events.

In the past, the meet was held in the spring, but this year it was held in the fall to get the school interested and participating in all extra-curricular activities through the year.

At the field meet, attendance was taken twice during the day to ensure that all pupils were present, to encourage them to compete, and to tell of the latest standings.

Perhaps the reason for better attendance this year was due to an increase in rivalry between the houses.
The four houses competed in a very active and exhilarating day of friendly competition. Supporters for the Green Machine (House A), the unnamed Blue House (House B), the Great Pumpkin (House C), and the Red Devils (House D) came out to cheer their houses in very large numbers. The events were basic track and field events such as long jump, high jump, runs of 100 metres, 200 metres, 400 metres, 600 metres and 800 metres, relay races across country, shot put and others.

There were other events for those not so good in track events, such as basketball, throwing, chess, euchre, war games and the spectacle of the day—the teachers' tug-of-war. The winners of each event were rewarded with points, which were added to the totals of all the other activities, so an overall winner could be determined.

Students were awarded one point for each event they participated in so a house could lose many events, but still get lots of points, if it had a lot of participating students.

At noon, with only half the results in, House B was leading with 360 points, House A was a close second with 290 points and Houses C and D were tied with 281 points each. The competition became more fierce as the day progressed and, in the end, House B, the unbaptised house, took the winner's seat with 809 points. House A was second with 707 points, House C had 690½ points and House D came in last with 592½ points, a mere 200 points behind the leaders.

BOYS SPORTS

The boys inter-school teams have been proving their worth in the last two weeks. The first news is about the excellent showing of skill and teamwork that the volleyball teams displayed when the junior boys team beat Acton High School in a straight 3 to 0 series last Wednesday night. The scores were 15 to 13, 15 to 7 and 15 to 11. The senior team had a little harder time when it played General Wolfe, but it came out on top with 3 games to 2. The scores in the first 3 games were 15 to 5 for Georgetown, 15 to 8 for Georgetown, and 15 to 9 for General Wolfe. General Wolfe tied the match with a 15 to 4 win. But our Georgetown seniors won the final game in a great example of teamwork over General Wolfe 15 to 13.

The junior and senior boys football teams put their practices to good use. The junior team played White Oaks and won 14-0. The seniors lost 12-9 but played a great game.

Leaders And Executive Get Acquainted Night

Halton Division guide leaders and executive members held a get-acquainted supper at Knox church in Georgetown, recently. The division encompasses several guiding districts, Acton and area, Georgetown east and west, Credit Valley, which covers the areas around Georgetown including Norval, Glen Williams, Limehouse, Ballinac and Pinegrove), Milton (town and outlying rural areas). Leaders from all districts joined in a meal and social evening to get acquainted and discuss mutual problems and share ideas in "buss sessions." "Buzz sessions" such as this are one of the informal types of training given to the leaders to supplement the more formal trainings which take place at intervals throughout the year. The girl guide movement is one of the few youth organizations which provides training varying from the basic introductory to advanced types for the leaders. There was an introductory training course held at King

City during the month of September, for all interested new leaders. The next two are to be held on October 22 and November 5, in the second house on Steeles Avenue. These trainings are to help the guides carry out the brownie and girl guide program for the months to come.

Crafts Courses Represented At Saturday Demonstration

Each of the craft courses taken during the past year by members of the Georgetown Arts and Crafts Club will have representative displays at the annual exhibition and sale at the Credit Valley Club in Norval, this weekend.

Final arrangements for the displays were made at the club's September meeting at the home of Mrs. Pat Beer, R.R. 3, Georgetown.

Lotte Zonnenberg, who does pewter-smithing, and Miet Podrabonski, a sculptor, will be demonstrating their work at the show.

Guests at the show will be able to try their hands at weaving at a large loom being set up by the Georgetown Weaver's Guild. Dorothy Goodwin will spin fleece, goat's hair, llama hair and dog hair. Shirley Lyons will be hooking a colorful design on burlap.

Marg Bell and Ruth Camplin will be sealing bread, cakes, fudge, preserves, pickles, herbs and other such items from members' kitchens at The Pantry Shelf.

Ethel Bessell will be at a leather and lapidary table, while Dorothy Brandford will show her latest creations in leather jewelry.

If she has recovered from recent surgery in time, Nellie Healy will offer stuffed toys for sale.

Dried flower arrangements there will include a surprise according to Betty Chamberlain and Ruby Nielsen who produce the creations. Visitors will also be able to see Pat Herrington caning chairs, and displays of bubble glass by Charlotte Ironside, and wall hangings and candles by Siglinde Knoepsel.

Irene Macintosh will display her oil paintings while Ruth Camplin will have bakits on display with her oils this year. Dorothy Stone will give an oil painting demonstration. Marion Montgomery will demonstrate the art of decoupage, and Agnes Olive will have her latest pottery items on view.

Three Minutes Your Limit

You have only three minutes before you become unconscious in a room filled with smoke. Toxic gases, not burns are a common cause of deaths by fire. This is particularly true of fatalities from stuffed mattresses or upholstered sofas and chairs. Or from fires of over-heated wiring in wall spaces.

So when you see the fire fighters chopping open the roof of a burnt building, it is to let out the carbon monoxide fumes for rescue operations.
