SOME HOUSES ARE DIFFICULT TO SELL - WHY?

Some do have certain drawbacks. Anyone of our experienced staff can usually identify the problem and point out a remedy.

I'm not referring to a property that is just completely run down through neglect, but rather one that has simply a basic defect. For example, a narrow lot with no space for a garage, no front yard to speak of, a poorly planned broken-up interior. Perhaps it's a noisy situation close at hand which might be objectionable as it tends to threaten the peace and quiet of the place.

A knowledgeable agent from our office can often suggest ways in which such problems can be solved with relatively little expense. If you're handy, you may even do the work yourself. If not, get an estimate of the cost involved and weigh them against being able to sell your home more readily and at a HIGHER price.

Within reason, you're further ahead to take some action to correct an obvious fault than to suggest HOW to a prospective buyer, leaving him to ponder WHY you didn't do it yourself.

A few dollars spent in the right place can mean TONS in profit to you. Let us evaluate your home or property and we will bring you the qualified buyer.
