

U.S. Boycott Of Grapes Bearpit Session Topic

by LARRY BROADFIELD AND LARRY BUSHEY

Last Thursday, Henry Wisniewski came to GDHS to conduct the year's second bearpit session. Even though the bearpit was poorly attended, Mr. Wisniewski tried to convince Georgetown students to help the U.S. Farm-Workers Union to boycott U.S. grapes and lettuce.

The Norval supporter of the Farm-Workers' Union told of the child labor laws, farmer poverty and the murder of farmworkers in California.

The few attending students were enthralled by the discussions and now know more about this situation than before. It is hoped that more bearpits will be held to enlighten the students about other controversial issues.

SADIE REVIEW
The traditional Halloween date of the year, the Sadie Hawkins, was held Oct. 26 and was a great success. Bales of straw, a rather handsome pumpkin head scarecrow, and an outhouse were included in the decorations.

Also at the back of the dance floor, there was a small booth. Inside the booth, for those who ventured near, was a man in plantation-type duds who, while puffing madly on his cigar, told this reporter that his name was Marryin' Sam.

Sam, a self-proclaimed preacher (it is supposed) carried with him the "good book" which, when opened, revealed some not so holy spirits. The label on the bottle read, Bananas.

Sam would perform a quickie marriage ceremony, hand out a certificate, and the happy couple would go on their way liberally covered with confetti. Another of the festivities was a pumpkin carving contest. Throughout the evening contestants could try to create their own version of the jack-o-lantern. Marc Gaskin's creation was judged best and he was rewarded for his efforts with two tickets to the Christmas dance.

The band that played, Sacrifice, who also played at Acorn High School for their Halloween dance, played well and it is hoped that future groups will be as good.

GERMANY
Although it may still seem distant, March break is coming and with its approach, there also appears the possibility of organized trips to foreign countries. One such trip that is in the planning is scheduled for Germany.

The excursion will be organized by Herold Tours Ltd. If the required number of applicants (20) express definite interest.

At the first meeting for the group there were 16 persons, but at last Thursday's, there were only 10. The cost is $395 and unless 20 persons intend to go it will be next to impossible to have the trip.

If the trip is organized, however, the trippers will spend one week in Germany leaving on a Friday and returning on a Sunday. Some of the places that the Munich trippers will be visiting are Salzburg, Altstadt, Mozathouse, Hellbrunn, Zwofelhorn, and Untersberg. Anyone interested should contact Mr. Campbell.

Last Friday, all Grade 13 students who take chemistry were required to travel to the University of Waterloo to attend lectures and labs on chemistry and other science subjects. The group left the school at 9 a.m. and spent the remainder of the school day at the university. The students were required to go to at least two lectures or labs and preferably more.

Presumably, this field trip was for the purpose of acquainting the senior students with university life and with the kind of work they might encounter in university. When the students returned from the trip they were to prepare a report on one lab or lecture.

Those students who decided to report on a lecture were at a decided disadvantage since most had never before had experienced taking notes at lectures and tended to write down the wrong things. Those who wrote about a lab had an edge, because similar labs are

Telephone Volunteers In Training Session

Last Thursday, North Halton Contact Centre's volunteers gained a better understanding and received pertinent information, about their purpose as telephone volunteers, related to them by an experienced volunteer, and representative of the Toronto Distress Centre, Bill (No. 8), as he prefers to be known.

Bill spoke to a group of new volunteers, attending a training session, at Harrison Public School, and pointed out that marital and family problems have recently taken priority over other calls received at the Toronto Centre.

He said depression and loneliness, are the predominant factors.

According to Bill, the volunteer should try not to problem solve, but maintain his position as a be-friender, lending a sympathetic ear. The caller, usually, only wants to talk to someone willing to listen to him, expressing his feelings, brought about because he is either confused, frightened, worried, fed up, sick, or just plain lonesome. The Toronto Distress Centre, averages 70 calls a day, and 20,000 calls a year. Volunteer's do not claim to help the caller, but rather console, listen to, and befriend the caller.

Georgetown volunteers plan to serve this same service, with the added availability to suggest a referral through the use of a comprehensive resource file, set up to meet the needs of the local public. This referral information will be continually updated, with the hope of promoting new community aids not existing in the area at present.

Union Gas Earnings Hit By Price Boost

Union Gas Limited which operates throughout southwestern Ontario, has reported that, while gas sales and revenues increased significantly in the six months ended Sept. 30, 1973, earnings declined to 9.2 cents per common share, compared with 16.3 cents per common share in the same period of 1972.

The company, in its interim report to shareholders, said the decline in earnings reflects an 18 per cent increase in the cost of gas sent out combined with milder weather than a year ago. Other significant factors affecting earnings were sharply higher interest expense and the discontinuance by governments of short-term income tax credits. The report notes that the business is seasonal in nature and that the April to September period should not be taken as representative of the full fiscal year's operating results. On the most recent 12-month basis, the report shows that earnings in the period from Oct. 1, 1972 to Sept. 30, 1973 amounted to $14,937,000 or 92 cents per share, up slightly from the preceding 12-month period.

STEWARTTOWN

For over 25 years St. John's Guild held its annual bazaar on the first Saturday in November.

During that time various types of weather greeted the folks as they ventured forth. Last Saturday, Nov. 3, was the annual bazaar held in the church basement hall and although the strong wind was cold, the sun shone most of the day.

Rev. Canon J. E. Maxwell welcomed the women and gentlemen who attended, led the prayer, and declared the bazaar open.

The Christmas decorations throughout the hall lent themselves beautifully to the atmosphere for Christmas shopping.

The eager shoppers arrived

HORNBY

North Trafalgar Euchre Club held its first euchre party Oct. 27, at the North Trafalgar Recreation Centre. There were nine tables of euchre in play with the women's prizes going to Lillian Howden, Grace Tasker and Marie Peacock. The men's prizes were won by Frank Peacock, Joe Murray and Wilmer Mason. The lucky draws were won by Annie Stout and Clare Wilson.

Anniversary greetings are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marchment, who celebrated their wedding anniversary Nov. 1.

And anniversary greetings are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lealie, who celebrated their wedding anniversary Nov. 8.

Several persons in the Hornby district travelled to Streetsville United Church to see the annual arts and crafts show and sale. There was a real display of pottery and gift items from ARC Industries of Hornby, gold wire jewelry, crocheting, needlework and liquid embroidery. A quilting display, stuffed toys and paintings, portrait sketches and several other interesting articles were displayed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Mason visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crozier at Severn Bridge for a few days.

Anniversary greetings are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Don Shea, who celebrated their wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Oct. 30. Best wishes to Don and Jackie.

Birthday greetings are extended to John Cordingley, who celebrated his birthday Nov. 1. Birthday greetings are also extended to Lisa Tallyn, Nov. 7 and Douglas Cordingley.

Friends of Mrs. Jim Plant, will be pleased to hear that Genienne has returned home from a short stay at the Mississauga Hospital. Get-well wishes are extended to Genienne.

early and were able to browse around and view the displays, and in their minds make their selections, so that when the big bazaar was officially opened they were ready to make their purchases.

The home bake table offered cakes, pies, candy, tarts, as well as homemade jams, jellies and pickles, all of which disappeared rapidly.

The "Hat Rack" displayed crocheted and knitted hats for all ages, and many of those attending will be sporting a new headress very shortly.

APRONS
Aprons always in demand, were both pretty and practical. The fancy work table held items too numerous to mention, representing hours of work done by the faithful members of the guild. Children and adults alike were attracted to the fish pond, and the touch and take table.

The tea tables were nicely decorated and the ladies served sandwiches, cookies, cake, tarts; all were thoroughly enjoyed along with a good hot cup of tea.

Mrs. Mileham was on hand to read the tea cups, and tell all of their future good fortunes.

Mrs. George Smily of the village was the winner of the beautiful afghan made by Mrs. Anne Wathens. Mrs. Walinga, also a village resident, won the crocheted cushion.

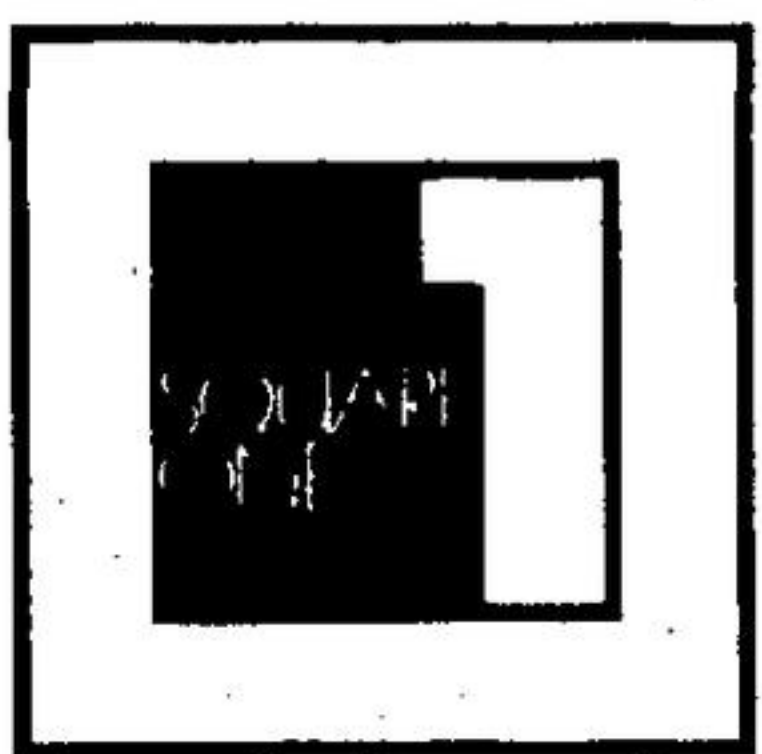

Mrs. Weller of Hornby, who recently celebrated her 92nd birthday, was again a guest, as she has been each year.

On behalf of the guild members, we would like to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to those who attended and to those who contributed in any way. Members agreed it was a most successful bazaar and a very enjoyable day.

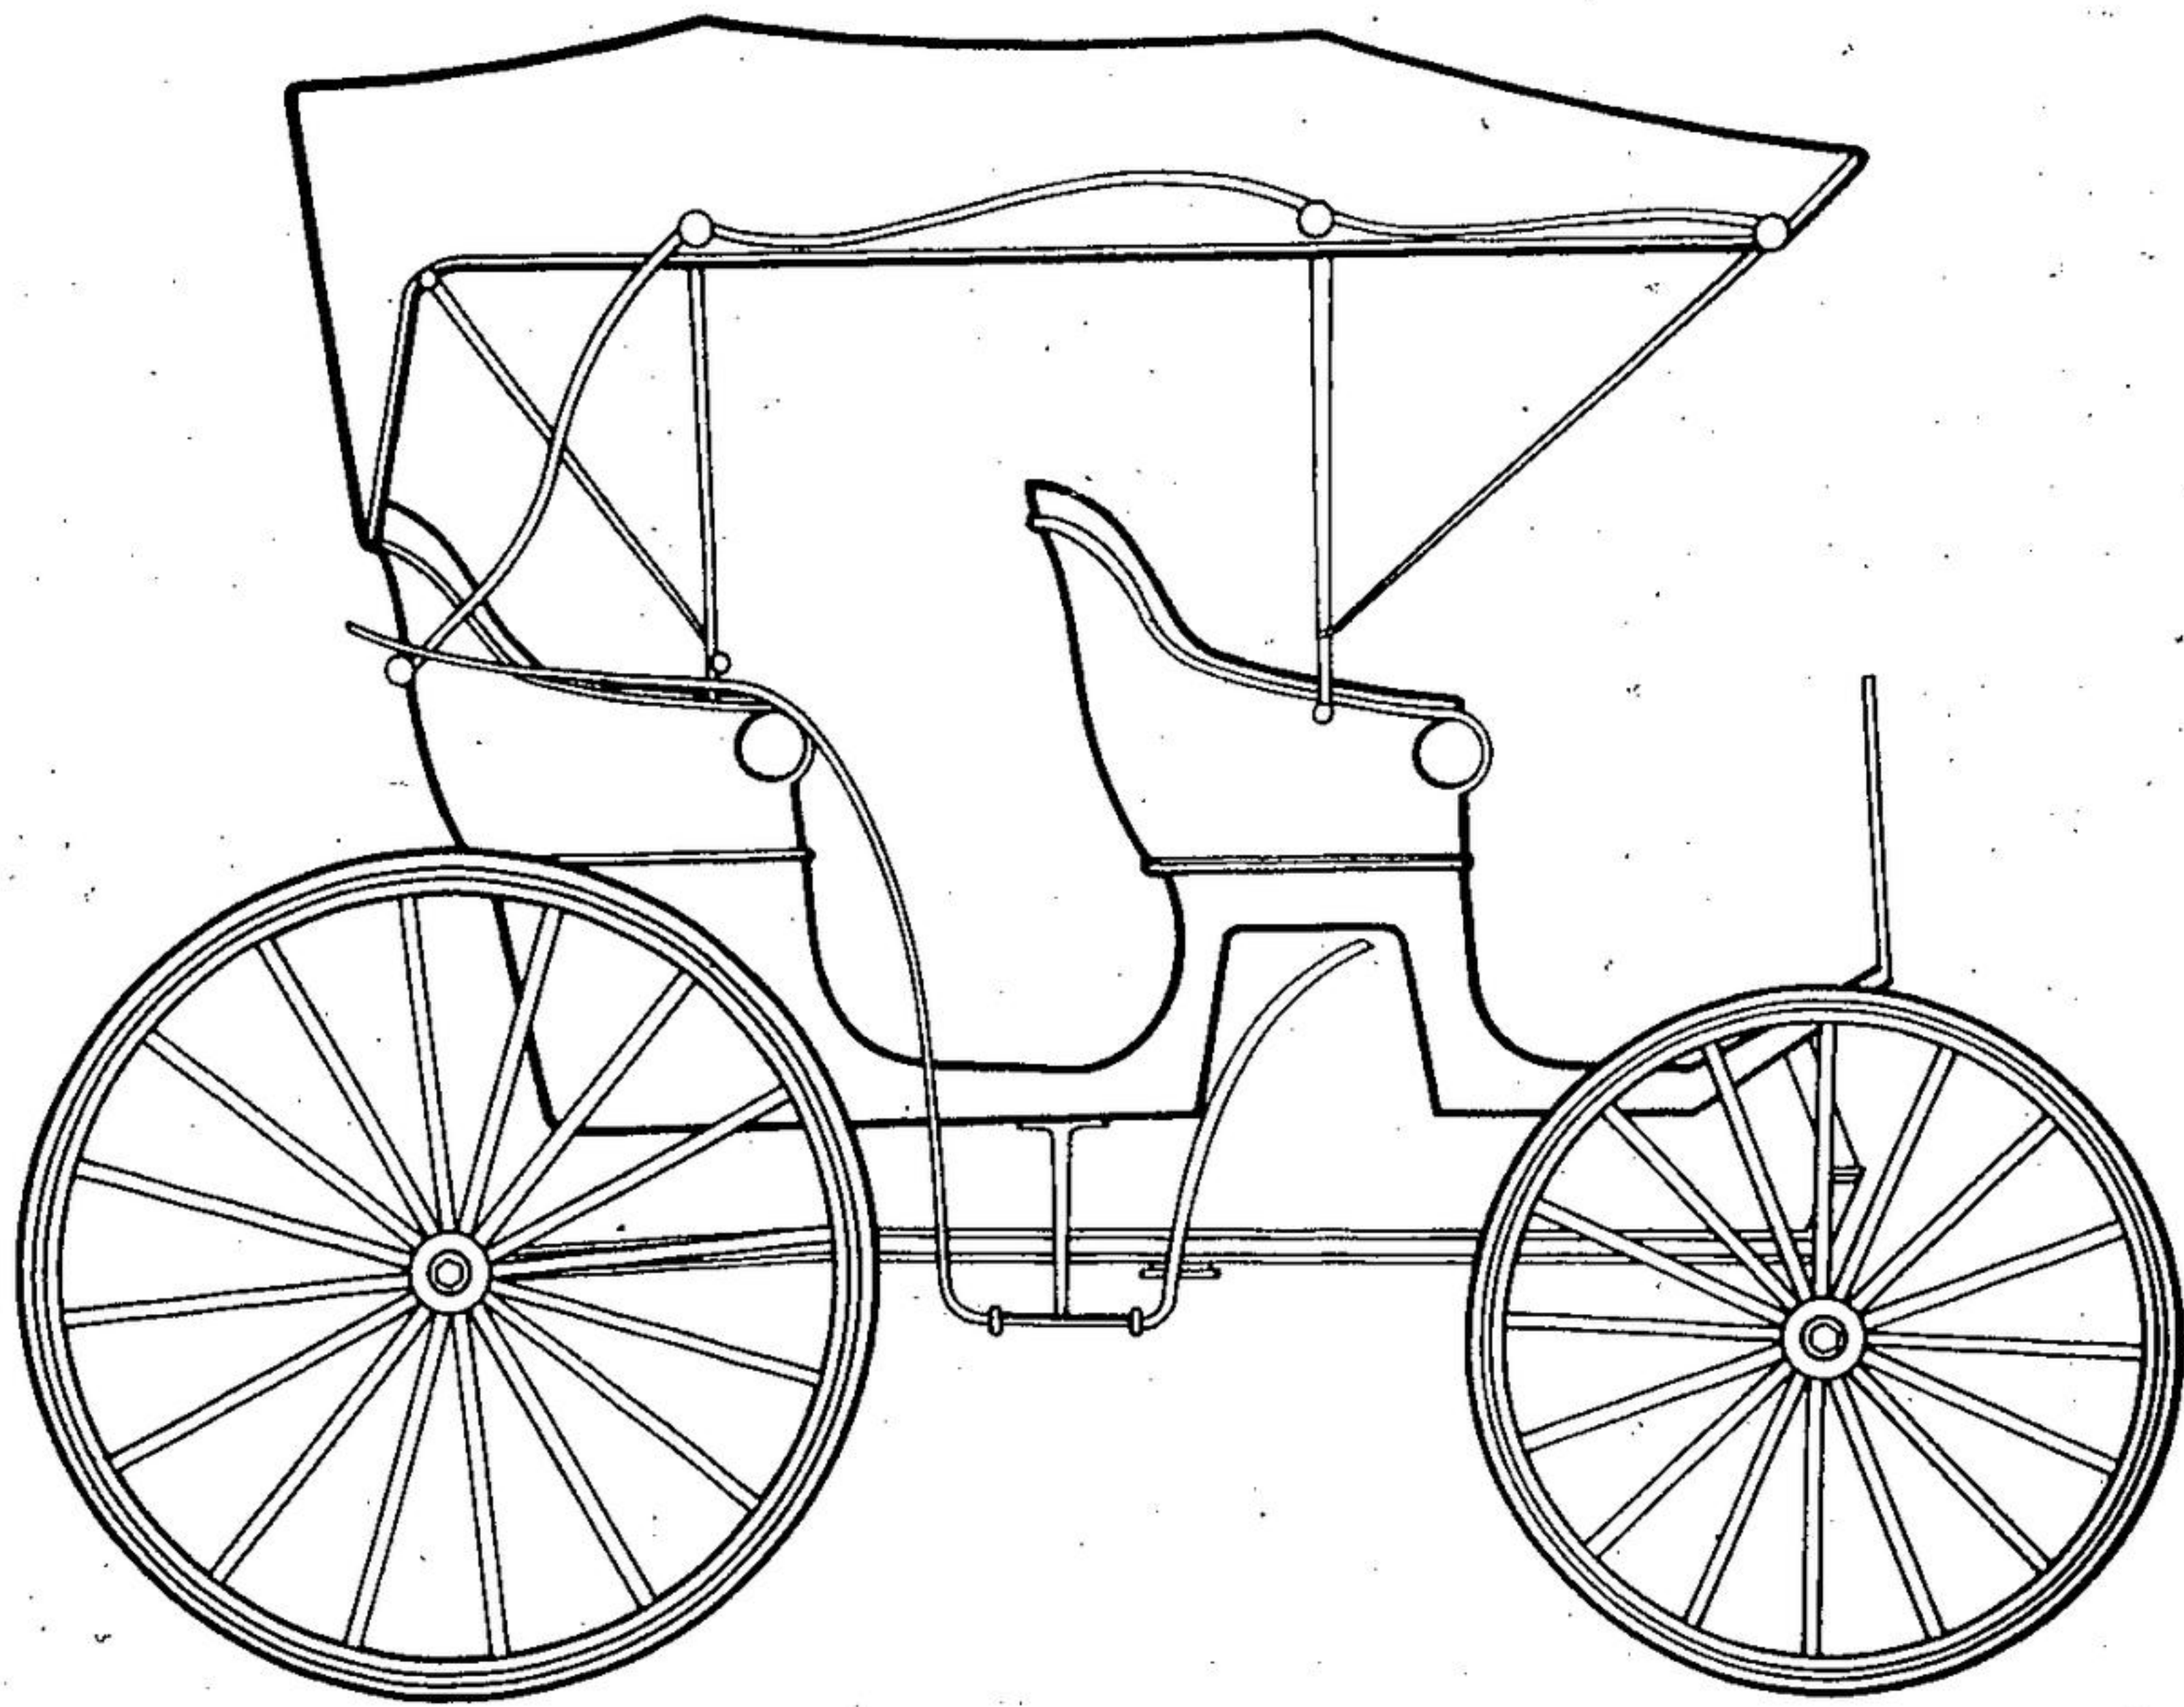

On behalf of the community we extend congratulations to Mrs. J. J. Thompson, who this past week celebrated her 90th birthday. Mrs. Thompson is now living in Georgetown, but for many many years she was a resident of the 6th line below Stewarttown station.

If the Washington Monument were laid lengthwise on the floor of the grand concourse of Union Station in Washington, D.C. it would lack 205 feet of spanning the great hall, the National Geographic says. The monument is 555 feet tall; the concourse is 760 feet long.

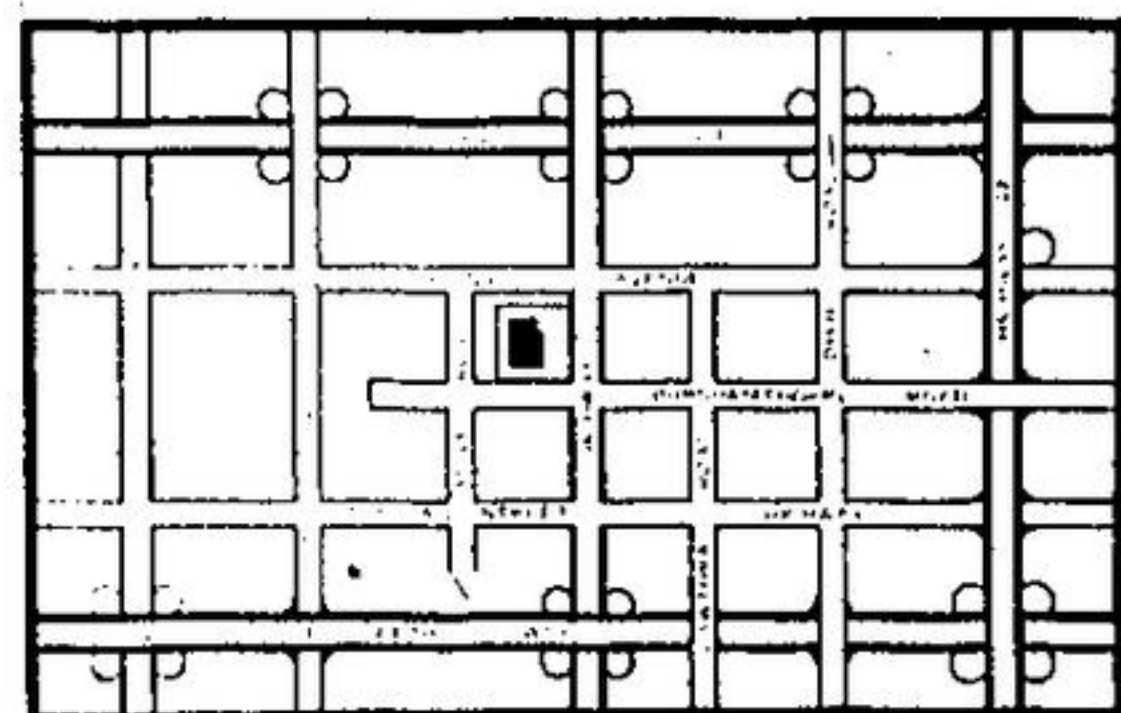

Calgary Carriage Collection

November 12-26, 1973.

Square One Shopping Centre cordially invites you to come in for a fond look back at Canada's past. Assembled by the Calgary Brewing and Malting Company Limited as part of its efforts to preserve an important part of our Canadian heritage, the collection represents a unique opportunity to view some rare examples of the Carriage Makers' art.
