Canadian Cancer Society Needs Your Help

"Growth is good," most people seem to think. However, there's one kind of growth that is definitely not good, and that's cancer, which is the disordered, un-disciplined growth of body cells. Find a way to halt this growth and you find a way to beat cancer. This is exactly what is happening in research today. With developments like radiation beam therapy, new and more effective drugs, and better surgery, cancer is being beaten. Thousands of patients are now cured. Give to the Canadian Cancer Society to help keep up the search for more cures.
