

Model Ministry School Acton Students Conducted By Witnesses In TV Workshop

"Man's wars, fought for whatever cause, are filled with casualties on all sides. God's war, by which He will resume rightful sovereignty of the earth, will have casualties on only one side," stated Lawrence F. Gray, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses. The subject of Mr. Gray's discourse was Be Confident of Divine Victory, and was attended by 1,194 at the Mayfield Secondary School in Brampton.

Mr. Gray stated that those who take the time to examine the evidence believe that God is about to intervene in man's affairs. They are also confident that not only will God wage war against the forces of corrupt rulership and exploiting commercialism, but also that He will be the victor. He also encouraged the audience to apply themselves to personal study of the Bible. "In the Bible," he said, "God makes clear what His requirements are for those who will have His approval."

Saturday afternoon saw a model ministry school of five students speaking on a variety of Bible subjects, and who received counsel on their speaking ability.

overseer, commented that he felt that the assembly impressed upon each one a need for total unity as the end approaches.

Another highlight came Sunday morning at 9:15 when 25 new ministers were baptized by water immersion.

The Media Arts students of Acton High School participated in a television workshop at the studio of Georgetown Community Television in Norval. The twenty students that attended, under the supervision of their teacher Mrs. J. Morgan and program manager Richard Forster, produced a series of commercials for Ontario.

These were written and produced entirely by the students themselves with Cable 5 staff instructing them on the techniques and operating procedures, of the equipment. The students were allowed to specialize in the area of television that interested them most, such as camera operator, director, and audio man.

"We expect them back later, before the end of school to do a program which we will feature on 'Cable 5.'" The facilities of Georgetown Community Television are open to anyone who wishes to reach the community, at no charge.

Glen Brownies Enjoy Dinner

On Wednesday, May 15, the first Glen Williams brownie pack had their annual mother and daughter dinner.

Yellow spring flowers and candles, with place cards and mats made by the Brownies created a pretty picture. Cynthia Brown said grace. The meal was a buffet, with the delicious food brought by the mothers and the Brownies taking turns cleaning up.

After dinner everyone had fun playing a game; each Brownie measured her mother's waist and a penny was given for each inch to the World Friendship Fund.

During coffee, Tawny Owl, Mrs. Sally Caldwell, led a sing-song, followed by a short welcome by Brown Owl, Mrs. Gwyn Ramsay.

Denise Rice thanked the mothers for coming and for the lovely food. Mrs. Lawson kindly replied.

Three presentations were made as thank-yous; to Mrs. Marion Rice for nine years service, Mrs. Caldwell for seven years service and Miss Parker, who helped with crafts during the year. They were made by Julie Collier, Elizabeth Ramsay and Linda Mayhew respectively. Mrs. Nancy Waters, president of the parent's group, spoke briefly to the mothers.

Moving to the circle, there was a regular Brownie opening ceremony, followed by the enrollment of Jennifer Mine.

Jane Caldwell was presented with the golden hand. Golden leaders were presented to Denise Rice, Donna Service, Cynthia Brown, Sandra Marchuk, Julie Collier, and Nadine Cachie. In addition, golden bars were presented to Renee Veehoff, Elizabeth Ramsay, Linda Mayhew, Larsten O'Reilly, Anne Ramsay, Janet Ramsay, Paula Harmer and Diane Lawson. Badges earned during the last month were also given out.

After a ceremony in which Jane Caldwell received her Brownie wings to fly up to Guides, the Brownies had the Grand Howl for Jane, Jennifer, the helpers and the mothers, followed by more songs and a Brownie closing ceremony.

Mrs. Ramsay announced that this was the last meeting except for an outdoor party and that the Glen Williams Brownies would start early in September.

ENJOYING FIREWORKS AT ROCKMOSA

PLAYING WITH FIRE is a real delight for Heather Irving and Marcia Vandriel.

Rockwood, especially when the flame is a safe sparkler approved by their parents.

Heather makes a design while Marcia is fascinated just watching the pretty sparks fly. The girls are enjoying a fireworks display at the Rockmosa Festival Sunday at dusk.

Robert Gougeon Home Furnishing

SPRING IS PROBABLY one of the nicest seasons of the year. Everything starts growing and the hardships of winter are forgotten. Robert Gougeon Home Furnishing, on Main Street likes the month of May for this very reason. Mr. Gougeon has decided to celebrate the month of May by having a month-long store wide sale. This is a fantastic sale that includes a 25 per cent clearance on all accessories as well as big savings on various dining room and living room sets including the Mediterranean dining suite set. Go take a look; if you find something you like Robert Gougeon will deliver it to your door for no charge.

Georgetown Chrysler

MOTHER'S DAY comes only once a year but Mike Tarp of Georgetown Chrysler wants to do something for the women of Georgetown all year round. MOM is short for mother but if you turn it upside down you have WOW. This is the program that the Mountview Road Chrysler dealership has started. This Women On Wheels program is designed to help teach women some of the basic fundamentals of car maintenance. It is a four week program, one night a week for two hours and its teaching method is based on demonstrations. This free community service is receiving 100 per cent participation, thus being a great success.

Mel's Antiques

MEL'S ANTIQUES on Main Street in Glen Williams is just what it says it is an antique store. But there is a big difference. The people at Mel's have a genuine interest for anything antique, especially furniture. They are involved with all aspects of the restoration of antiques. In their workshop are to be found the only dip tanks to be found in the area. Mel will also do interior work on floors and walls. In his store are a complete line of oil lamp parts and he will also convert lamps to electricity if so desired. He carries a whole line of Real products specially designed for antique furniture. The various assortment of waxes are completely organic compounds. In keeping with an antique perspective Mel's antiques also has a Post Office that has been on the premises since 1887.

Acton Meadows Golf Club

I WAS DRIVING through Acton the other day and I noticed the Acton Meadows Golf Club. For some unexplained reason I was immediately intrigued. Upon further investigation I found out that in the clubhouse dining room there are facilities for any size catering that one could imagine. They also serve full course. They are equipped to serve any size banquet that is requested. This 9 hole course is on the road to Guelph and Mr. Bill Campbell said that even though it is a small course now it won't always remain small. The size of the place is deceiving because they do have all the resources of a much larger establishment.

Georgetown Pools

THERE IS A VERY NASTY RUMOR that somehow we managed to miss summer altogether. There is a lot of evidence for this but I do believe that it will come eventually. With summer comes hot weather and therefore a desire to go swimming. This is where Georgetown Pools, a Todd Avenue firm, figures very prominently. It used to be that swimming pools were only dreams for most people and a reality only for the very wealthy. Georgetown Pools has helped to change all this. The pools they carry come in all sizes, both dimensions and price size. They also have both above and below ground pools. So this summer don't invest a lot of money in air-conditioners, instead co-operate with nature and invest in a swimming pool.

Oak-Queen Paint And Wallpaper

THIS GUELPH STREET FIRM has a vested interest in the creative do-it-yourselfers of Georgetown. This firm carries a complete line of Para Paints as well as a good stock of wallpaper. This is another of Georgetown's do-it-yourself dream world's. The people there are very friendly, and know a lot about these products. They also know a lot about interior decorating and what would look good together. They even have a special machine for mixing paints. So give in to that creative urge and pay them a visit.

Master Feeds

I SPENT A FEW MINUTES the other day just wandering around Master Feeds in Stewarttown and I was quite surprised at the variety of products that I found there. They carry things like water softener salt, all kinds of farm supplies. They are a complete lawn and garden centre with all the garden tools that one could think of as well as rentals on that bigger equipment; like lawn rollers and tillers. Mr. Juniper, the store manager was telling me that they also have bulk garden seed which is quite hard to find these days. What I consider the neatest fact of all I left for last, mainly I guess because my thumb is more orange than green. That is the pet section of Master Feeds. They carry all the pet foods and just for you horse lovers a complete tack room for western and English riding. Don't take my word for it go take a look for yourself.
