Planets And Future Taught At Sheridan

Sheridan College has developed an evening course in Astrology for those interested in the signs, horoscopes, planets and the future. German born Helke Ferrie, now of Burlington, brings together years of astrological expertise accumulated since childhood. In a 10-week course which starts Wednesday, Oct. 2 at the Burlington Continuing Education Campus. The weekly three-hour sessions will progress from the definition of astrology, the difference between astrology and astronomy, to charting a horoscope and discussions on the zodiac. Once the mathematics of charting a horoscope, planet positions and filling in a chart is learned, students will then proceed with the zodiac and the different signs. Two weeks will be devoted entirely to the study of planets including the original five planets and the three "new" planets - Uranus, Neptune, and Jupiter as well as the non-planet Sun and the controversial Pluto. Registrations for Astrology are now being accepted at the Burlington Campus. Fee for the 10 weeks is $20. For further information contact Campus Administrator Sherri Birwhistle at 2289 Fairview Ave., or call 639-0100 between 9 and 5 p.m. Monday to Friday.

Too Cold For Pool

Submitted by Jeanne-Marie Resney
5 Chipper Cr., Georgetown
Publicity Chairman of Zeta Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi
On Aug. 28, at the home of Nancy Snyder, Zeta Phi members and four prospective members of our Chapter attended a pool party which marked Beginning Day. It was rather cool for swimming so the girls stayed inside, chatting, drinking wine and enjoying the buffet lunch consisting of various salads, fruit and cheese trays, coffee and dessert.

On Sept. 10, at the home of our president, Diane McCracken, our first regular meeting was held. Diane greeted everyone back from summer holidays and wished all a happy year in Zeta Phi. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Donna Irvine and we received our new programs listing our coming social events, etc. It was decided to once again have a refreshment booth at the Georgetown fair.

Norma Marshall started the program "Oratory" by telling the girls about the emotions an orator appeals to in his audience. I.e. Love vs. Hate - Myth vs. Grief - Pride vs. Shame - Hope vs. Fear - Desire vs. Contentment. She gave a very informative lecture which will no doubt assist us in our future speech making.

Norma Tripp concluded the program by reporting in detail her attendance at the Beta Sigma Phi 1974 convention held at the Four Seasons Hotel in Toronto. She had a bag full of souvenirs, gifts and told us of the many friends she made. She talked about the food and accommodations, the impressive ceremonies, etc. She managed to delight us all with her natural wit, although she was not feeling at all well that night. She is a good example of unselfish devotion and dedication to the Chapter. Co-hostesses were Vivian Petermann and Nancy Snyder who served a delicious cake, squares and coffee.

On Sept. 17, at the home of Anne Powell, our Rushing party was held. The theme for the evening was "Around the World." The girls were dressed representing a place and we had a lot of fun trying to guess. Jeanne-Marie Resney won a prize for the best costume representing Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Our social committee prepared and served a hot supper consisting of: Hawaiian pork, Italian salad, Apple Bavarian slaw, Chinese ginger salad, Spanish rice, Black Forest cake, Japanese Awayukikan and coffee. We played court whist while drinking punch and prizes were awarded for the highest score to Anne Kennedy and a consolation prize for the lowest score. Our social committee certainly went all out and did a splendid job.

Terra Cotta Outing Better Than Classroom Says Etobicoke Principal

Terra Cotta Conservation Area has been host to 270 Grade 10 students from Silverthorn Collegiate School in Etobicoke during the last week.

From Sunday to Friday the students, under supervision of 15 teachers at the school and 30 senior students acting as councilors, have been camping in the Area.

However, the week has not been a vacation for the students; on each day they have been fully occupied with projects related to Terra Cotta and the Area.

Ian Barrett, a teacher at the school and the camp's activity supervisor, explained that, "the kids will learn more during a week here, (at the camp) than they ever would during a week at school".

Mr. Barrett was very enthusiastic about the camp, which he said took a year and a half to plan. Bruce Lee, the vice principal at Silverthorn, first thought of the idea, and received full co-operation from the principal Murray Young.

The camp was financed entirely by the students themselves. Each student paid ten dollars and provided their own tents and equipment and also their own food. The budget was set at $2,500. Mr. Barrett said the budget had been over-spent by $25, but that the money from those that hadn't yet paid would cover all additional expenses. The rent for the area, which is usually $1,000 a week was reduced by the Authority to only $350. Six hundred dollars was allotted for food, (bread and milk) $500 for several Johnny-On-The-Spot, and $200 for rentals of canoes and general supplies.

The students were given the chance to participate in many educational activities that they couldn't take part in at school. During the five instructional days they were taught canoeing, mapping, fishing, and local history. In addition ecological studies such as water evaluation, plant and soil identification and soil studies were taught.

Hazel Carson was in charge of the science projects, Larry Burton, English and Communications studies and two former students taught scuba diving.

All that the students were taught related to everyday living, and according to Mr. Barrett this explains the enthusiasm so evident of the students. "The students are really eager to learn everything they can; I think the hardest part comes when it's time to pack and go home. But, the students have also learned something that I hope will spread throughout the school."

that the teachers are really just like them. We've replaced fear of teachers with respect and now they know that with co-operation a lot can be accomplished. By choosing the Grade 10 students I think this

Third Annual Campout For Hoboes Club

The Hungry Hollow Hobos camping club of Halton Hills held their third annual fall campout at Blue Springs United Church campgrounds last weekend.

Families attended from Blehenn, Burlington, Guelph, Hamilton, Georgetown and Acton.

Friday night a friendly get together was held at the pavilion for hospitality. Saturday morning a very successful bake sale and delicatessen sale was held by Box Car Bertha. Saturday afternoon the Hobo Olympics were enjoyed by all, followed by a Hobo surprise auction. Saturday evening the children enjoyed some Charlie Chaplin movies followed by the usual Hobo caviar (weiners and beans) for all, the adults had coffee, and the children pop.

On Sunday morning Bob Morrow conducted the campers worship service. A very delightful pot luck dinner was enjoyed after church.

Basal Griffin of Burlington is now the proud owner of a fire extinguisher for his trailer due to his lucky ticket in the draw. Each camping family registered also received a small door prize.

MEETINGS

Bruce Scott, a young Canadian evangelist, baritone vocalist and recording artist, is to conduct a series of meetings at Maple Avenue Baptist Church in Georgetown, Sept. 22 to 29. Mr. Scott is a native of Ontario. A son of the manse, Mr. Scott was raised at the heart of church work, and through the influence of godly parents made a commitment of his life to Christian service during his teenage years. A former Canadian youth teen talent winner, Mr. Scott completed undergraduate studies in Toronto, a pastored congregations in Ontario and served as director of the Golden Horseshoe Christian Youth Centre and Youth Evangelism Fellowship. The public is invited.

Liberals Split Riding Install New Executive

Halton Liberals took a big step Wednesday when they dissolved the Halton and Halton East Liberal Association at its general meeting at the Trafalgar Memorial Hall in Oakville.

However, the members were reorganized into two new groups of Liberal supporters, called the Halton Federal Liberal Association and the Halton East Provincial Liberal Association.

Halton Federal Association will take in Oakville, part of Milton, Halton Hills and Erin Township; while Halton East will have Oakville, part of Milton and part of Halton Hills.

During the meeting, Elizabeth Robson, President of the former Halton and Halton East Liberal Association vacated the position to become the past-president of the Halton East Provincial Association. An Oakville man, Murray Haester was elected President of the Association. Other executive members are Frank Allen, Halton Hills, executive vice-president; Alice Walker, Halton Hills and Judy Savage, Oakville, vice-presidents; Joyce Fairley, Oakville, secretary; and Terry Campbell, Oakville, treasurer.

Heading the Federal Liberal Association is William Andrachuck of Oakville and Jacquie O'Connor, Erin as the executive vice-president. Other elected members are Rud Whiting, Oakville, and Laurie Harris, Halton Hills, vice-presidents; Soja Jensen, Oakville, secretary; and Ray Vetrivige, Oakville, treasurer.

Part of the reason for the split in the association is the proposed provincial redistribution of Halton County which will expand from two ridings, Halton East and Halton West into three.

The new ridings are Oakville, consisting of the town of Oakville, Burlington, with the city of Burlington south of Highway 403, and Halton, the new towns of Halton Hills, Milton and areas in Burlington, north of Highway 403.

There also seems to be a strong move by the Halton Regional Council to create a fourth riding by dividing Burlington into two, east and west of the Guelph line.

On the Federal side, Halton is expected to become two ridings with Oakville forming one and the remainder to the north forming the other.
