Furrow Queen Promotes Plow Match

The furrow Queen's function is a useful one as well as an ornamental one.

Attractive Sheila Armstrong, chosen Queen of the Furrow at the 1973 Plowing Match in Lambton County, has spent the past 12 months promoting the 1974 International Plowing Match.

Although her looks are a definite asset, Sheila pointed out that a queen is selected for her personality, deportment and congeniality, an important requisite for her public relations work.

Voted Perth County Queen at her local plowing match in 1972 entitled her to compete against other county queens for the Ontario Queen of the Furrow 1973-74 title. She was presented with a 1974 lime green Astra to carry on her promotional endeavors from her home in St. Paul's, Perth County. When Sheila gives up her reign to the new queen next week, the car will be hers to keep as a gift.

Contestants from all over Ontario will be entered in the Queen of the Furrow contest. Each was chosen by her local plowing association last year.

Halton's '73 Furrow Queen, Miss Carol Somerville, of Churchill Road, Acton, will act as hostess to the other contestants during their stay at the Mohawk Inn Sept. 26 and 27. During their two days in attendance at the Plowing Match, Thursday and Friday, the young ladies will deliver a public speech, give a plowing demonstration and each will have a private interview with the judges.

The new Queen of the Furrow will be crowned Friday night at a mammoth banquet in the Mohawk Raceway.

The banquet is being sponsored by the Ontario Plowmen's Association for some 1500 folks who have banded together to make this display what they hope will be the biggest and best ever to be held.
