I-beat-my-coach tournament

By CHRIS BURKE
This Saturday, October 26 is National Youth Bowling Council "Shell Out Day" to help the mentally retarded people in Canada. Shell Out Day will feature the "I Beat My Coach" tournament to be held in YBC leagues across the nation, including those at Georgetown Bowl.

To enter this tournament, each YBC member should bring an extra 25 cents for entry fee this week. From this, 10 cents will be used to cover the cost of the crests, while 15 cents will be used to supply a free cresting program for the mentally retarded leagues across Canada.

"I Beat My Coach" crests will be awarded to all those bowlers who beat their coach's score in any one game - including their handicap. This tournament will be run in all of our YBC leagues including those on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday. Scores bowled ahead will not count. All YBC members are urged to enter!

BANTAM GIRLS
Julie Burns owns the high average of 177. Mustangs stepped on Slickers in two games and totals in Pink Knockers demolished Bantam Babies in every game. Mike Tarp's Georgetown Chrysler Raiders opened their 1974-75 Intermediate "A" hockey season against Port Colborne, Friday night and slumped to a 5-3 defeat.

Playing in their new red and white Georgetown Chrysler uniforms, which looked ominously like those of Team Canada '74, the Raiders fumbled and stumbled against their old rivals the Port Colborne Sailors.

There was little resemblance between the current team and the alick Raiders of last April who whipped the Sailors in the OHA championship final. Of course, this was only the first game of the season, and with only four members of last year's team back this year, the Raiders will take time to settle down and organize themselves.

But what the Raiders lacked in finesse, they more than made up for in team spirit. The fans who turned up and endured the bitterly cold arena, (for some reason the heaters weren't working Friday night), were thrilled by the Raider rally in the third period when the Raiders closed the gap from 4-1 to 4-3.

But the Sailors hung on, Latinovich scoring at 10:46 in the third to wind the game up. Spirits were dampened early in the game.

Only a minute and 17 seconds had passed after Mike Tarp and Mayor Tom Hill dropped the puck to officially start the game, when Bernie Larochelle, back again for Port Colborne, scored for the Sailors. Ray Evans scored an unassisted goal for Georgetown at the 8:04 mark to level things up and the game remained tied 1-1 at the end of the first period.

That ended the scoring, and despite some dramatic goal mouth scrambles, Port Colborne hung on for a win.

In the second period again the Sailors struck early. They went ahead after a good goal by Waters at 2:23 and before the Raiders were able to organize themselves, Green had added another... 3-2.

Raider hopes seemed shattered when Port Colborne went three goals ahead after Bob Goss scored 63 seconds into the third period.

But the Raiders have never been a team to give up. Bob Marchildon, a newcomer for Georgetown on the right wing, was set up by Evans for a goal at the 3:45 mark of the third.

Less than a minute later Gerry Pearson, assisted by Brian Hurley had closed the gap to a solitary goal. Hopes were high for a Raider comeback when Latinovich put the final nail in the Raiders coffin at 10:46.
