Good Neighbours still needs a place

By Roma Timpson
The Georgetown and District Good Neighbor Service is still looking for a place to fill baskets, sort food, toys and articles of clothing. No response has been forthcoming from an ad placed a few weeks ago.
This place should be warm enough to work in, yet cool enough to store the food for about a week.
The Royal Canadian Legion generously donated two places the past two years but since then have rented one building and made a lounge adjoining their legion from the second. Service organizations such as the Legion, Legion Ladies Auxiliary, Kinsmen, Kinettes, Rotary and Lionettes contributed money as well as work the past few years as did many other interested individuals. There is always a good number of willing workers the day that the deliveries are made a day or so before Christmas.

The school children are a tremendous help in bringing their gifts of food to their individual schools and in the past the Georgetown Police Department have been kind enough to pick up from all the schools the day before Christmas Holidays.
Churches, Sunday school children and ladies groups have been very generous in their donations of toys, new and used, and clothing.
Everyone likes to pitch in and help. It's very gratifying to see the warmth that is displayed at this time of year to less fortunate families. Not all these families are on welfare. In a lot of cases it is an illness or accident that keeps the breadwinner out of work and perhaps there is no pay cheque over Christmas week, so this is where our Service can help out.
A letter will be going out to businesses and Georgetown citizens in the next week asking for a donation to help off-set the ever growing cost of food that must be bought to assure all families of a hearty and traditional dinner on Christmas Day.

If you have an available place for us to use for a week, please call, Linda Wright, 877-4330, Fred 'Tut' Harrison, 877-9283, or Roma Timpson, 877-9135.
