

Second term for local teacher

Tom Ramautarsingh, a Social Science teacher at Georgetown District High School, chaired the first day's proceedings of Reading '75 held at York University.

The eighth annual conference got underway Feb. 19 and carried through to the 22. Delegates (totalling 1,500 came from all parts of Canada and from various areas of the United States.

Judy LaMarsh, speaking on a very timely topic, "Canada and the Middle East" received a standing ovation from the delegates. Other impressive guest speakers were Dr. Selma Wasserman and Dr. Harold Herber.

The four-day program consisted of various seminars, panel discussions and numerous guest speakers.

Mr. Ramautarsingh has been appointed to serve for a second year on the Reading Conference Committee.

An evaluation meeting on the conference is scheduled for April 8, however, initial reports indicate that Reading '75 was most successful.

John McKinnon, RR1 Milton; Bert Stewart, RR1, Hornby; Stan May, RR2, Hornby; and Bob Laaby, RR2, Rockwood, represented Halton 4-H leaders at the annual provincial 4-H Agricultural Leaders' Conference held in Toronto on February 21 and 22.

During the conference, the leaders took part in workshops and discussion groups covering numerous aspects of 4-H. This included a panel discussion on 4-H councils, a session on 4-H resource materials, ways to improve local meetings, and the role of social recreation in 4-H programs. Elgin Craig, a 4-H'er from Peel, shared his experiences at regional, provincial and national 4-H activities.

Key speaker at the conference was Ken Lewis, a students' counsellor with Centennial College in Toronto. Mr. Lewis worked with the leaders for a full morning to improve their ability in communicating with young people. Later the same day, the 4-H leaders developed recommendations and goals for the 1975 4-H program.

Margaret Woolf, supervisor of Junior Extension, Home Economics Branch, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, was guest speaker at the annual banquet Friday night, and shared her ideas on "the qualities of leadership."

Also attending the banquet were William Stewart, minister of agriculture and food, and Mrs. Stewart.

The near 100 delegates to the conference represented over 1,500 4-H Agricultural Club leaders in Ontario.
