

Royalettes win one of four in tournament

It was a disappointed band of Royalettes who returned to Georgetown after competing in a softball tournament in Sarnia over the weekend. This was the first Juvenile tournament for the girls - they competed in the Midget Division last year - and they were clearly outclassed, finishing last out of ten entries.

In the two-day tournament, the Royalettes were involved in four contests winning their first then being soundly beaten in the other three encounters. Juvenile teams from throughout the southern region were entered in the tournament which was won by Sarnia Township.

Aside from Georgetown, tournament entries included teams from Shakespeare (near Stratford), Weston, Brampton, Downsview, Kitchener, Waterloo, Grimsby and Sarnia.

The Royalettes' debut was a success as they downed Shakespeare 6-5. The winning pitcher in this opening game was Betty Marchment who came on and did an excellent job in relief of Laura Wilkes. The local girls then lost their next three games; 15-7 to Sarnia, 12-2 to Kitchener and 16-2 to Downsview. Laura Wilkes pitched against Sarnia and Kitchener while Barb Curry hurled in the loss to Downsview.

Despite the losses, solid, consistent performances were turned in by Brenda Smith and Charlie Milton, while Barb Curry, Laura Wilkes and Betty Marchment all shone at the plate, completing the tournament with averages over .650.

Royalettes tie with 'B' queens

The Georgetown Royalettes, Juvenile Girls softball team, narrowly escaped a loss last Tuesday as they tied the Brampton Juveniles 2-2.

Brampton is the defending All-Ontario "B" Juvenile Champion and, although the team is not faring as well this year as they did last season, they are recognized as an extremely talented squad.

The Royalettes led twice in the contest, 1-0 after two innings and 2-1 after five innings but Brampton rallied for one run in their half of the sixth inning to gain the tie.

Laura Wilkes hurled for the Royalettes with Jean Osborne performing the pitching chores for Brampton. Laura picked up six strikeouts.

Charlene Milton again led the Royalettes at the plate, going two-for-four, including a double and triple. Barb Curry and Leanne Gilson stroked singles. Brenda Smith, who gives 100 percent effort in any sports she plays, turned in a fine game behind the plate.

The Royalettes hosted Eringate Tuesday evening. At press time the score was not available.

Jets fizzle out; Varian pours it on

By Theresa Callaghan

The draw for the Kinmen was held last Thursday. The draw winner was P. Miersma of 84 Confederation St. in the Glen. The winnings were estimated to be over $300. The Kinmen league wishes to thank all those who participated in the draw and especially the girls who went out and sold the tickets.

GAME OF THE WEEK

Varian 25
Cable Jets 24

A game that ended so close was far from it in the beginning. The Jets were first up to bat and brought in seven runs. Varian's first try wasn't so profitable as they earned two.

The Jets piled on the runs 'til they had 18 in the sixth inning. Varian's eight runs in the sixth brought their total score up to 16. Cable Jets went into the seventh with the lead but ended up short one.

Cherise Lacoursiere made a surprise catch at first base. Colleen Seaton and Cathy Harris both made good catches out in the field. Homerun hitters were; Maureen Ollivier for two, Kathy Kuchmasch, Debbie Williams and Nancy Lieder. Nancy's homerun was a grand slam and enough to earn her the right to share the game's star with Maureen Ollivier. Pitchers for Varian were Sally Stroud and Patty Barber. Pitching for Cable Jets was Shelly Perkins.

HEADS-UP PLAY is the name of the game in last Sunday's soccer match between the Georgetown Falcons and Hansa International of Brampton. The Falcons won the day and the game 3-1 and are rapidly showing that they are indeed contenders for the league leadership.

The HI-single event was won by J. McLean's team from Oakville.

Excellent weather and good greens helped make the event a success.

Ontario Outdoors

To dam or not to dam?

By Bob Ollivier
Member, Outdoor Writers of Canada

Last week I promised something on the dams of the Credit River, but unfortunately no one wants to commit themselves on this matter. However, Mrs. Hazel McCaffion, claiming to represent the city of Mississauga at the recent Coho Workshop, emphasized that the people of Streetsville are adamant in wanting to keep the Streetville Dam.

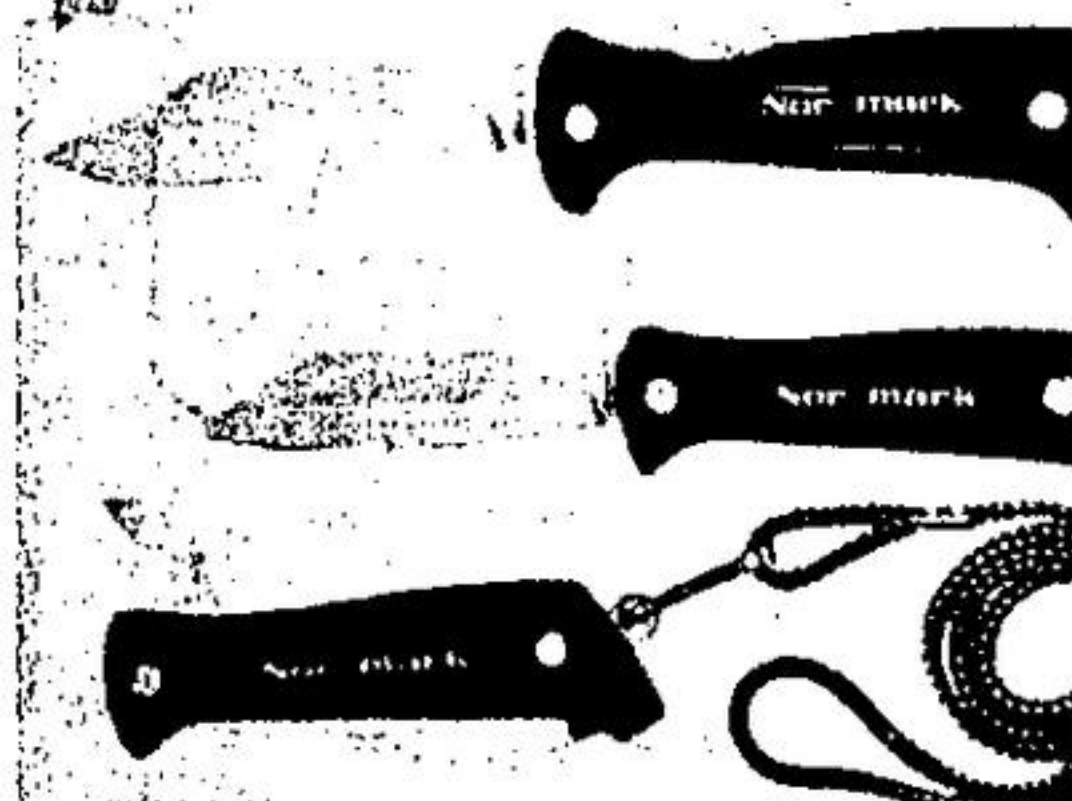

The Credit Valley Conservation Authority has taken action to investigate the removal of the Paper Mill Dam at Georgetown. These are the only two dams that are a hindrance to the upstream progress of the Coho or the future stocks of Rainbow Trout. The Maple District of the MONR is working hard to save the Credit River from exploitation in the form of subdivisions and illegal dams, etc. In their words, and mine I might add, "Rivers are not meant to be ditches or channels. They are living aquatic ecosystems."

Jack Catcher has been conservation Officer on the Credit and the Credit River valley for quite a few years now, and is one of the dedicated people who are out to protect the Credit River and its environs from destruction. I think he deserves our thanks. The Credit Valley Conservation Authority is in tune with the ideals of the ministry and, likewise, deserves our thanks.

In the field of "what's new" or nearly new, the Normark Corp. has introduced the Swede Knives. They are available in two sizes, and have a lanyard hook with the lanyard attached but removable: A very necessary addition to the gear of anyone who spends time in the outdoors for any reason whatever. They are better suited to the needs of a camper or fisherman than the belt knives, or at least most of the time. Normark also makes the Rapala Filleting Knives which is a belt knife, but they are used when filleting, not in the camp or on the trail. I use a "Big Swede" and wouldn't be without one when I am out.

It seems the Grand River will never be clean again! Recently in Port Maitland, 2500 tons of 98 percent pure sulfuric acid leaked out of the International Mineral and Chemical holding tanks. Lime and limestone were used to try and prevent its flowing into the river but the dyke was not effective. So goes the Grand. The same with other rivers. When is the government going to stop these companies from the wholesale pollution of our lakes and rivers?

My stand on these tank areas and the so-called "Pup" trailers in which a man lost his life on the Brampton bypass last week is well known. The trailers are always tipping over or causing accidents. The loss of life and the pollution of our waterways is inexcusable.

Reserve-A-Site. The Ontario Ministry of Parks and Recreation, in conjunction with the MONR, has made a telephone available for those who want to know the status of the park they wish to go to. By calling Toronto 967-0427 you can find out if the park in question is full, and save a lot of time going from park to park looking for some place to park your outfit.

As the Bass season opened last weekend and my deadline was before the news of the weekend fishing came through I will have to fill you in next week, along with the "Remote Cottage Plan" of the ministry. As for the book I have been reading, it has proven to be one of the best books on indoor and outdoor cooking of fish and game that I have read to date, and that is a large statement as I get to review almost every book that hits the market in the outdoors field.

With the interest in the Coho Salmon, the chapters on smoking fish will prove the worth of the book alone. But it is packed with all manners of recipes and interesting reading. Get it, you won't regret it. Enjoy, and protect, and fight for, ONTARIO OUTDOORS.

Lions having problems

The Georgetown Midget baseball team is still struggling in the second division of their league after dropping two games this past week—3-2 to Oakville and 10-2 to Waterdown—but it seems that the team can perform well when the mood hits them.

Oakville had previously beaten the Midgets 12-2 and 11-1 but on Tuesday they were lucky to escape the local park with a win. After four innings the Lions were in front 2-0 and appeared well on their way to a victory. Pitcher Mark Reis was effectively shutting off Oakville's offence. Defensively, the local club couldn't be faulted. Then two walks, followed by a home run by Oakville's Steve Nero in the fifth inning, squashed the Georgetown hopes for two points.

The game was called in the top of the seventh inning by umpire Ron Sguigna who ruled that it was too dark for the batters to follow the ball.

Mark Reis took the loss for the Lions. The Lion's runs were scored by Rick Gourlie and Steve Waldrum.

Absenteeism was really the cause of the Lions' downfall against Waterdown as four starters, for various reasons, failed to put in an appearance. Danny Anderson started the game but was removed after three innings and Rob Mossop, a shortstop, and Rob Hatcher, a catcher, were pressed into mound duties. The Lions' two runs came in the bottom of the second inning but from that point on their bats were silent.

The game almost got out of hand on several occasions with one Waterdown player getting the thumb in the early going. In the sixth inning the Lions' Rob Mossop was ejected along with a Waterdown player and the game was called as Georgetown could only field eight men.

The Midgets play on Wednesday in Burlington and hope to come home victors. In their last encounter with Burlington they suffered a 3-2 defeat but, with heads-up play and a little more punch at bat, they could easily reverse the previous decision.
