

Three more homes needed for Mexicans

An exchange program which will see 12 young Mexicans spending the next few weeks enjoying the offerings of life in Georgetown requires three more families to open their homes to a young visitor.

A representative of the Experiment in International Living program noted that nine families in Georgetown have already offered their homes but three more are needed. Time is running short as the Mexican visitors are scheduled to arrive Wednesday.

The three are 20- and 21-year-old students. Two are medical students.

If you're interested in hosting these visitors, contact Jean Brown at 877-9254.

Their stay will require no extra effort by the host family. In fact showing a normal, day-to-day Canadian life-style is what the entire 21-day program is all about.
