Wild times as Coho start run

By Bob Olivier,
Member, Outdoor Writers of Canada
You think it's bad at Thornbury and Owen Sound in the spring? At least these fishermen are on foot. Put all these people in boats and the full impact of the "Coho Fever" will hit you.
The mouth of the Credit River is jammed. The boat slips that are available have a line-up waiting to put boats in. No place to park your car. Some folks from Georgetown even went down Friday night and put their boat in and slept in the boat, in order to have that edge over everyone else.
Ron Wagstaff, Sargent Road, and I went down to Port Credit Saturday arriving about 6.30 in the morning. Not having a trailer to put the boat in, we just picked it up and set in, avoiding the crowds. Common sense and respect for the rights of others will help avoid some of the scenes of impatience.

A WHOPPER—Ron Wagstaff proudly displays his catch.

This is an excellent opportunity to learn some of the rules of boat safety, "rules of the road" so to speak. Know what side of a marker buoy to stay on and watch out for the other guy. Out in the lake there were about 500 boats of all styles and size, ranging from 40-foot cruisers to sailboats to canoes. All with lines out trolling for the Coho Salmon that were there in schools of several hundred fish.

No sooner were we out of the harbour area then we saw a boat with a fish on. We did not stop our trolling pattern as it was not the time to bother them with questions and our presence would have made the landing of the fish that much more difficult. Everywhere we looked people were fighting fish, or it seemed that way to us.

Every boat we could check had red fluorescent flatfish on, or the occasional one with a "fire plug" lure, but these were all in red fluorescent.

Some other effective lures to try are the Toby spoon, Mepps Rainbow spinners, or try anything you feel may take them.

The boats were out in the area around the Credit River mouth although they were spread out quite well.

Think Safety: Those idiots out in canoes were asking for trouble. It blew up with a storm coming from shoreward and the wind getting quite strong. When the rain hit it seemed that everyone was heading for the shore and the canoe caught in the wake of a big boat doesn't stand much chance. The waves were starting to get high.

Remember to show all those watching you that fishermen and women are both taken consistently on spoons in Michigan, and remember that Rainbow Trout fishing is not at its peak yet. They are better in October. By the way, if you get a Salmon with a lamprey mark don't let it bother you. Cook the fish anyway and cut out the scarred section before eating. If you happen to catch the lamprey itself, it too is good eating.

Brook Trout Season is closing in our area on Sept. 30 this year instead of the usual Sept. 15. The same goes for the Rainbow Trout.

Remember about hunting licences and the need for township licences and keep in touch with ONTARIO OUTDOORS.

If you fish in a female, keep the eggs. They make great bait for Rainbow Trout fishing. I don't agree with using eggs but no one can argue with the method of obtaining them. If these eggs were to flood the market the need for poachers and illegally taken rainbow eggs would totally disappear.

Bowlers start season

By Steve Archibald

The 1975-76 Youth Bowling season is now in full swing with proper teams being formed. The coaches are eagerly willing to help the new bowler learn the fundamentals of the game and to help the returning bowlers get back into the swing of things.

Our bowlers are steadily improving after the short summer break and their scores are quite impressive.

There are many in-house and inter-house tournaments coming up in the near future which our bowlers will be working towards.

There are still openings in all leagues for youngsters between the ages of six and 18. Registrations can be made at Georgetown Bowl.

BANTAM GIRLS

Heather Wallace has sole possession of the average race with a 135. Team two dropped two games and totals to team one. Team four scrambled for five points from team three and team five outclassed team six in every game.

Team Standings
Team Five, 7; Team four, 5; Team one, 5; Team two, 2; Team three, 2; Team six, 0.

Falcons still in thick

Georgetown Falcons 1
Chinguacousy Majors 3

The Georgetown Falcons lost 3-1 last Sunday, but still remained in third place with one more game to go on Sunday, Sept. 28, against Neerlandia, at Cedarvale.

This game is a "must" for the Falcons to finish third in the standings. In the meantime the team will be keeping score and will need help from other teams in the league.

Hara with two more games to go, could pull ahead of the Falcons by two points, should they lose against Neerlandia. Rinascente, a team that played fine soccer last week with a 1-1 tie against Hercules, and Chinguacousy, could pass the Falcons by one if they win, and the Falcons lose.

The team to watch closely is Toronto Lazio with six more games remaining and six points behind the Falcons. They could accumulate 12 points with six wins for a total of 24 points.

The second Division West, one of the best balanced leagues in Toronto and district will end up with an exciting finish. Last Sunday Chinguacousy went up 1-0 at the 17-minute mark when a ball missed by our defence, ended up at the feet of the right winger who scored with a hard high shot.

Robert Lister tied the score at 28 minutes, beating the goalkeeper to the ball, playing around him and scoring in the empty net. In the second half, Chinguacousy pulled ahead 2-1 on a header, and Peter Roe scored number three with a beautiful goal seven minutes before the end.

The Falcons will be idle next Sunday, but play their most important game Sunday, Sept. 28 in order to hang on to third spot.
