

Zeta Phi welcomes new member

The Zeta Phi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority opened the fall season on Sept. 4 with a friendly evening luncheon, convened by the social committee, at the home of Cheryl Brown. Most sorority sisters were in attendance and thoroughly enjoyed a congenial evening of chit-chat.

On Sept. 9, the first regular meeting was held at the home of Rosemarie Gill, co-hosted by Beverly Wheatcroft and Carol O'Byrne.

The chapter welcomed Marlene Steckley, a transferee from Mississauga, as a new sister to boost the chapter membership to eighteen.

During the business meeting Norma Marshall was elected our new treasurer to complete the executive of, president, Beverly Wheatcroft; vice-president, Rosemarie Gill; recording secretary, Jeanne Marie Reaney; corresponding secretary, Carol O'Byrne; coordinating council representatives, Diane Tappin and Wendy Warren.

During the meeting, Norma Marshall was presented an engraved spoon honouring the birth of her son during the summer. Donna Reid provided the lucky draw prize and Nancy Snyder was the winner.

On Sept. 16, at the home of Sigrid Robson, a most enjoyable pledge dinner was held, with Italy as the theme of the evening. The social committee, comprised of Eileen Quackenbush, Cheryl Beaton and Carol O'Byrne prepared delicious Italian dishes served in an interesting ethnic setting from checkered tablecloths to painting reproductions by Italian masters. The girls thoroughly enjoyed slides shown by Sigrid of her trip to Italy, and enthusiastically took part in quizzes which added to the evenings success.

The second meeting of the month took place on Sept. 23 at Nancy Snyder's home, with Diane Tappin presenting the evening's program, and Diane McCracken and Sigrid Robson preparing mouth watering desserts.

A special guest in attendance was Sigrid's mother, whom the girls enjoyed meeting. The guest speaker for the evening was Joyce Beaton, columnist, and author of "Alive and Well", a collection of her poems. Having prompted the girls by relating the development of her liberated thoughts, the way was open for the chapter girls to express their various views on woman and her role in the home, as well as outside. All agreed that the discussion was interesting and enlightening.

The lucky draw prize of the evening was donated by Diane Tappin and the winner of the African Violet was Beverly Wheatcroft.

With the sponsoring of Mr. Dress-Up on Sept. 27 our chapter continues to be busy and involved. The committee in charge, chaired by Nancy Snyder and including Cheryl Brown and Marlene Steckley, deserves credit for all its hard work in organizing the two shows. Both shows were sell-outs and all attending thoroughly entertained.

The same evening was fun at the home of Bev and Roger Wheatcroft when a mixed social took place. Highlights of the evening were the auction of box lunches, which the girls had individually prepared, and dancing, which rounded off an enjoyable evening.
