

Rebellettes start season

The GDHS Rebellettes basketball team will this year be known as "A" and "B" Varsity, as distinct from the previous years' Junior and Senior designations. Both Varsity "A" Coach, Mavis O'Neil and Varsity "B" Coaches, Betty Tama and Toni Spina are hoping for more than a name change in this year's respective Rebellette editions.

The Scholers of last year finished their regular season tied for second spot with OTHS but lost a tiebreaker that dropped them to third place and out of playoff contention.

This year, however, the Varsity "A" Rebellettes should gain a playoff berth as they have three starters returning from last year's squad, Sharon Barclay, Leanne Gilson and Brenda Smith as well as Karen Harrington, Kim Worrall, Charlene Milton and Sue Alexander who provided strong bench strength.

Graduating to the Varsity "A" team from last year's Junior Rebellettes are Nancy Phillips, Cheryl Gundy, Lyn Cartwright and Yvonne Corbett and they are expected to provide still competition for starting positions. A newcomer to both the Rebellettes and Georgetown is Debbie Kirk, who attended Erindale High School last year.

Last year the Junior Rebellettes finished fifth in their league, however, more than a name change has been added to this year's team. Betty Tamas, who taught last year at Dryden High School and who coached that school's Senior Girls basketball team has taken over as Head Coach and will be assisted by Toni

Spina, a novice to the coaching ranks. A welcome relief to the new coaches is the return of five players from last year's team, Patti Caruso, Sandy Chamberlain, Heather Clarke, Cindy Gardner and Sharon Greenstade, however these veterans will be severely tries by a fine group of basketball players up from the Public School ranks. Meredith McLaren and Sharon Gundy head the list of fine prospects but other players that will be vying for spots on the team include, Patty Barber, Carol Carter, Meredith Henley, Sylvia Martin, Karen McCosh, Monica Pollock and Carrey Worrall. The potential is there for a fine Varsity "B" team, all that remains is for the strength of the team on paper to prove itself on the court.

NEW VARSITY "B" COACH, BETTY TAMAS, goes over some plays with team members. Although the Varsity "B" team failed to make the playoffs in their league last year, Coach Tamas is expecting that this year's season will prove much more successful. Some fine rookie prospects, up from the Public School system, have added much to the team's potential.

Field hockey

Field hockey in North America has taken over from soccer as the least known about and in reality, least cared about sport available in our high schools. The fact that it is also played, for the main part, by females, hints at possibly the main reason for its lack of limelight. Nevertheless, it is a very demanding physical sport and should rank a lot higher than some of the better known games, such as volleyball and definitely belongs in the same conditioning class as basketball, for female students.

Georgetown and District High School has made field hockey available to girls for the past five years, under the tutelage of Sheena Kewley, but it is still regarded as a less than glamorous sport. This year the GDHS Rebellettes will sport "A" and "B" Varsity squads, a slightly different alignment from the previous years' Junior and Senior teams, but as yet no real league has been set up. A one day tournament for the Halton Championship will officially end the field hockey season. This tournament will take place at M.M. Robinson High School in Burlington, Wednesday, October 8th.

This year, Coach Kewley is planning on taking the "A" Varsity team to a Junior Conference tournament to be held under the auspices of the Ontario Women's Field Hockey Association. This special tournament will be staged October 18th, but as yet, no site has been designated.

In exhibition games last Monday, both the "A" and "B" Varsity teams from GDHS tied teams from M.M. Robinson, 3-3.

Centennial

Cross country run

Centennial Public School held their annual Cross Country Meet this past Monday and approximately 800 students, male and female, from grade six through grade eight competed. The course was roughly one mile in length and the overall team winner was House "I" Beavers, who accumulated 314 points.

Grade six girls, in order of finish, Cheryl Thompson, Michelle Richmond, Jackie Wickens, Leanne Pritchard and Carolyn McCauley. For the grade six boys, Mike Doucette finished first, ahead of Mike Wroblewski, Sheldon Brown, Andy Carter and Ken Riddle. Linda Ferguson led the field for the grade seven girls, with Christine Woychesko placing second, Charlene Woychesko placing third, while fourth and fifth spots went to Maurens Gale and Heather Reed. Leading the pack in the grade seven boys run was Doug Smith, hotly pursued by Bobby Davey, Lance Doucette, Bob Dean and Dave Finley.

Hayley Quinn copped first place honours for the grade eight girls followed by Judy Krajacic, Lorraine Turner, Diane Jones and Rhonda Brown. Dave Taggart won the grade eight boys run, followed by Steve Robbins, Herb Kewley, Grant Richardson and Paul Clark.

Tennis champ

The final championship event on the Georgetown Tennis Club's agenda for this season, the Men's Singles Championship, was held this past weekend and the tournament attracted a club high, 24 competitors. Gerry Peace emerged as the 1975 Champion, defeating Tom Brotherton in the final, 6-2, 6-0. To reach the finals, Peace defeated Al Adams in semi-final play, while Brotherton knocked off AJ Serjeantson 6-0, 6-1 in the other semi-final.

Glen wins

The fastball scene in Georgetown came to an end this past week when Glen Williams defeated Club Billiards four games to one in the Georgetown Industrial Fastball League's championship finals. What started out as a close series, with the Glen winning the opening contest 4-3 in ten innings and Club Billiards taking the second game 2-1 in 13 innings, proved merely a replay of the Glen's regular season successes. The Glen won the third contest, 7-3, took the fourth game last Wednesday night 4-2, then wrapped up the championship with a 4-0 win on Sunday afternoon.

For the Glen team, it's been quite a year. They won the regular season title, walked off with first place money in two tournaments and emerged victorious in league playoffs. Congratulations are due to Coach Tom James and all the members of the Glen Williams team.

Jack Fisher, shortstop for Glen Williams was chosen the league's Most Gentlemanly player and received the Baldy Cunningham Memorial Trophy, donated by Perk's Barber Shop.

GDHS cross country

The GDHS Rebels Cross Country team journeyed to Brampton's Centennial High School this past week for a meet against teams from Centennial High School, Central Peel High School, Port Credit High School, Britannia High School and Turner High School and demonstrated what hours of hard work and dedication can do as they recorded a resounding victory over the other Peel Regional schools.

Dixon won the event, Alan Roxborough placed fifth, Glen O'Connor was seventh and Chris Deere came in ninth.

This week the GDHS team will compete in two Cross Country Meets; the first, the East York Harrier meet on Wednesday, while on Saturday the Rebels journey to York University for an important meet.

Stiff competition is expected in both these upcoming meets as it is expected that the top Cross Country teams from throughout the province of Ontario will be in attendance.

According to team coach, Donna Metcalfe, the team's performance was the best by a GDHS Cross Country squad in a great many years. The Rebels captured the top four spots in the Girls Open Division, the Midget Boys Division and the Junior Boys Division, while the Senior Boys team, although not dominating, won their division.

In the Girls Open Division, the Rebels took seven of the top eight positions. Cathy Clark was first, Jennie Thompson second, Heather Rodgers third and Dena Kent placed fourth.

For the Midget Boys, in a field of 42, Ian Clark ran to a first place finish, John Slack placed second, Fergus Barnes was third and John Warneck came in fourth.

In the Junior boys race, the Rebels again swept the first four finishing positions. In order of finish, the Rebel-runners included, Bruce McIntyre, Tracey Stevenson, Alex Otto and Eric Firth.

The Senior boys completed the impressive Rebel display against a field of 25 as Mike
