

Report From Queen's Park

by
Julian Reed
MPP, Halton-Burlington

The main highlights of the Ontario Legislature two weeks ago were the non-confidence vote on the Throne Speech in which the Liberal sub-amendment condemning the Government for closing hospitals, increasing municipal taxes by transferring the provincial restraint to the local level so that local councils will have to raise taxes to maintain services, and on the severe cutbacks on social services, was supported by the N.D.P. The resulting vote was: combined opposition 70 to the Government's 48.

The Liberals supported the Government to defeat the N.D.P. amendment on the basis that it would be unwise and unfair to put the people of the Province of Ontario to the expense of a provincial general election only six months after the last one. Thus an election was avoided.

Treasurer McKeough unveiled a $12.5 billion budget, the deficit projected to be $1.2 billion while at the same time keeping spending growth to 10.4 percent.

The deficit was reduced on the basis that smokers and drinkers will pay 5c more for a pack of 20 and wine, beer and spirits will go up from 10c to 35c. Health insurance premiums will also have an impact because a single premium will increase $5.00 a month while a family premium will move up $10.00 for the same period commencing May 1, 1976.

This increase will mean that OHIP premiums will pay for 28 percent of the total day out costs of OHIP compared to 23 percent currently.

Other highlights of the budget are as follows:

1. Daily rate charges for semi-private hospital beds will be raised by $3.50 to $11.00 a day and private rooms by $10.00 to $22.00 a day.

2. The annual fee for uninsured motor vehicle drivers goes from $60.00 to $100.00 annually.

3. Tax cuts for small businesses amount to 3 percent reduction on corporation tax on income eligible for small business deduction.

Mr. McKeough in presenting his budget said he felt the economy was strong and expanding and we must rely on "private sector expansion to generate growth and employment."

What do you want in a new library?

What do the young people of Halton Hills want to see in their library? Do we need a new library? Where? Do we need a better library? What should it look like? Do we need more library? What does it need to be?

The library staff want to know what you think and want. Give them your help, send them your ideas: written, drawn, tape recorded or built in model form. You can enter as an individual, as a class or youth group.

Send or bring your project to the Junior Library, 9 Church St. before May 20, 1976. If you have any questions ask Mrs. Ball or Wendy Egerton at 877-2831.

Prizes will be awarded to the class, youth group or individual for the best project of its type.
